BALKAN BORDER CLASH

Report Italian Planes Shot Down

STORY ON PAGE 2

Italy . . . Ready for Action—Steel-helmeted and in full fighting kit, legions of Italy (as these) are massing today in the Dodecanese Islands . . . only a small part of the huge army Mussolini has built up in recent months. According to latest reports, 8,000,000 Italian fighting men stand ready to join German storm troopers if and when war strikes in the Mediterranean.

WAR IN BALKANS NEAR

BUDAPEST, May 6 (AP) —Extension of the war to southeastern Europe seemed more imminent today than at any time since the first days of the conflict.

Two border incidents involving Italian and Yugoslav forces—both a week ago— and the heavy reinforcement of Italian troops on the Yugoslav frontier were reported in Ljubljana, Yugoslavia. Yugoslav military quarters estimated Italy now has more than 300,000 men massed north of Fiume.

One Italian soldier was killed and three seriously wounded when a Fascist troop patrol attempted to disarm a Yugoslav sergeant on Yugoslav territory near Fiume in one border incident, Yugoslavs asserted. The Italians told a mixed commission, which placed responsibility on them, they thought the sergeant was on Italian soil.

In the second reported incident, Yugoslav anti-aircraft batteries shot down an Italian observation plane at Bakar, near Fiume. Yugoslavs fished out the plane and charged that its pilot, who drowned, had been photographing defense works.

TURKISH TROOPS MASS

(A dispatch to the London Evening Standard from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, said Yugoslavian anti-aircraft guns have shot down two Italian planes near the Albanian frontier.)

Contributing to the belief of many diplomats that a crisis may be reached this week were the following developments, officially unconfirmed in some cases but given general credence.

Turkish troops were reported massing along the Greek and Bulgarian frontiers.

German troop concentrations were noted near the Yugoslav and Hungarian frontiers, as well as the shipment of Nazi tanks and war materials into eastern Slovakia, a Reich protectorate.

Hitler Rushes Crack Troops Over Snow To Aid of Narvik

BERLIN, May 6 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, noted for his dramatic surprises, today dispatched Alpine troops on a difficult 200-mile trek through almost impassable mountains in an attempt to aid the besieged Nazis at Narvik, which has become known in Germany as Norway's "Alcazar."

Hitler's trusted mountain troops began their march from the neighborhood of the little Norwegian town of Mo, north of Namsos, and the terminal both of railway and normal automobile highways. Between Mo and Narvik there is only a narrow country road, sometimes only a mere path.

(Reports from Neelunghavn, Norway, today said residents of the coastal village saw a German airplane bomb and sink a submarine, either British or French, in the Skagerrak last Saturday.)

Meanwhile, the German high command reported that British artillery forces in the far-north Narvik region had been strengthened but that no more intense fighting had occurred in that sector.

Reporting further blows against the British navy, the high command said that "one enemy battleship" was hit by a heavy bomb off the Narvik front and that two German planes had captured a British submarine which was damaged by a mine April 15 in the Kattegat.

Mo is about 150 miles north of Namsos.

Also reported pushing northward from the Namsos sector toward Narvik are British and French troops who German advices yesterday indicated were cut off from the main expeditionary force last week when the Allies withdrew from Namsos.

They must negotiate between 300 and 400 miles of difficult mountain terrain between Namsos and Narvik to reach the Allied forces in the north.

The reported bomb hit on a British battleship followed upon Britain's official denial of Germany's claim Saturday that Nazi bombers had sunk a 30,000-ton

French Repulse West Front Raid

PARIS, May 6 (INS)—Military activity flared again on the western front today when two companies of German troops totalling 400 men attacked French outposts of the Maginot line and temporarily encircled them.

Tough flying squads of what are known as "Groupes Francs" (free groups) counter-attacked and drove off the Germans, relieving the besieged posts.

The German raid was carried out on a sector a mile in length. Several hours of artillery fire preceded the raid and big guns were in action during the clash.

French Say Carnera Is Army Deserter

PARIS, May 6 (AP)—The newspaper Paris Soir said that former World Heavyweight Champion Primo Carnera had been declared a deserter from the French army by French military authorities.

The newspaper said the Italian-born Carnera, who became a naturalized Frenchman, left France several years ago and once again took up residence in Italy.

Norse Ski Ace Killed by Nazis

OSLO, May 6 (AP)—The famous Norwegian skier, Einar Grottumsbraten, was killed in fighting north of Oslo, it was reported today.

He was a member of a ski patrol which was surprised by Germans. All of the other members of the Norwegian patrol were said to have escaped.

Mayor Tobin Kept At Home by a Cold

A cold he caught over the week-end confined Mayor Tobin to his home today.

His family physician, Dr. Roger T. Doyle, ordered him to stay in bed for at least 24 hours. The doctor said he believed the mayor's condition was not serious.

HELD AS SPY—Suspected of being a Nazi spy, Roni Del Riantos, 19-year-old olive skinned beauty, is booked at San Antonio, Texas, county jail, after her arrest by federal agents. She had attempted suicide by gas, but was revived by police after being found unconscious in her cell.

British Admit Loss Of Destroyer Afridi

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—In the midst of vehement public demand for a more vigorous prosecution of the war, Britain today announced loss last week of the 1870-ton destroyer Afridi in German bombing raids upon the convoys withdrawing allied troops from Namsos, Norway.

The admiralty stood by its denial of German claims to have sunk a battleship of the Queen Elizabeth class and a heavy cruiser in the same operations.

But it admitted that the Afridi, fifth naval loss officially announced by the British, was "struck by a bomb and subsequently sunk" during an "insistent attack" by "waves of enemy aircraft."

The admiralty said escort vessels' anti-aircraft fire was so effective that two German bombers were shot down and the transports came through "untouched."

COSSACK COMMANDER

The Afridi, fifth British destroyer lost since the start of the Norwegian campaign, was acting as flotilla leader of the escort and carried 219 men.

She was commanded by Capt. P. L. Vian, who commanded the destroyer Cossack when she invaded Norwegian territorial waters last Feb. 17 to rescue about 300 British seamen from the German "prison ship" Altmark in Joesing fjord in southern Norway.

An unofficial military source reported that British troops in northern Norway are closing in on the German garrison, estimated at between 3000 and 4000 men, holding the Arctic ore port of Narvik, but that operations of necessity were proceeding slowly and that the immediate capture of the port was not to be expected.

BULLETIN

LONDON, May 6 (AP) — Sir Percy Loraine, British ambassador to Italy, is returning to his post from leave in England and is due to arrive in Rome tonight, it was announced today.

Co-Ed Killer Linked In Girl's Sex Murder

BELLEFONTE, Pa., May 6 (AP)—Police and CCC youths searched high and low in this central Pennsylvania section today for the tan sedan of a "maniac killer" wanted for the sex slayings of a comely girl factory worker and a Pennsylvania State College co-ed.

Lynn G. Adams, head of the State Motor Police, said the fatal bludgeoning of Fay Gates, 25-year-old employe of a match factory, near here early yesterday was "identical" with the slaying of Rachel Taylor, 17-year-old co-ed, five weeks ago. That occurred only 12 miles away.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the same man killed both," he said. "A maniac killer is at large among us, a man who is probably insane in every respect. No one can tell where he will strike next."

FOLLOWED BY TAN CAR

Adams indicated the tan automobile was the most promising clue police have. Two girl companions of Miss Gates said a car of that color had been following them a short time before her battered body was found beside a lonely road in "Spook Hollow" at 2 a. m.

After attending a movie in Bellefonte Saturday night, Miss Gates drove the two girl acquaintances to their homes in her car and was returning to her own home in the neighboring village of Mt. Eagle when overtaken by her assailant.

A young man who had been visiting Fay's sister, Lois, at the Gates home found the body on his way home. Miss Gates' clothing was torn and blood-stained and she had been savagely beaten on the head with a blunt instrument. An

ACTRESS WEDS THIRD TIME

ARLENE JUDGE AND HER EX-HUSBAND, DAN TOPPING
Recently Divorced, Actress Weds Gotham Socialite

ARLINE, NEW MATE BACK IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 6—James McKinley Bryant, an executive for a Fifth ave. hotel, today returned from the Kentucky Derby with a winner—Arline Judge, his film actress bride-of-a-day.

"She's the best pick I made at the Derby," beamed the young hotel executive.

James Bryant

Arline and Bryant were married, he said, "somewhere in Kentucky between 6 o'clock Saturday night and 3 o'clock Sunday morning."

The movie actress, recently divorced from Daniel R. Topping, New York socialite, told reporters her latest marriage (No. 3) culminated "a long romance."

Bryant said he was 31; his bride 27. It was Bryant's second marriage.

Bryant's name figured in a New York city night club controversy in 1936 when Lieut. Cameron McCrea Winslow of the Navy suffered a black eye during a party given by Johnny Weissmuller, the film Tarzan.

At the time, the first Mrs. Bryant, the former Mickey Flynn, an actress, was quoted as saying that Bryant struck Winslow because he was rude and acted like a big shot.

Singer Grace Moore, who was escorted by Winslow, also was "rude, terribly rude," she said.

Miss Judge won a settlement reported to approximate $100,000 from Topping. She married Topping after her divorce from Wesley Ruggles, film director.

In her divorce complaint against Topping, she alleged he once smashed the door into her bedroom and broke a bed, and that he was once found kissing a young woman at Palm Springs, Cal.

Roosevelt Enjoys Quiet Week-End

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 6 (INS)—President Roosevelt enjoyed a quiet visit at his Hyde Park home.

Washington officials left him undisturbed despite the direct telephone connection between the White House and the Hudson Valley estate. A drive around his property was the President's only activity.

Run in Stocking Is Awful, Girls

LOS ANGELES, May 6 (AP)—Hint to stenographers:

Mrs. Ruth Hughes, president of the Los Angeles chapter, told the California federation of legal secretaries:

"Don't go to work with a run in your stocking. Psychologists say that no man can keep his mind on his work and on a run in a woman's stocking at the same time."

FLAG THIEVES HUNTED

Cambridge police today sought vandals who stole American flags from the traffic circle at Alewife Brook parkway and Concord ave., Cambridge. Officials of the Veterans of Foreign Wars reported that three flags have been stolen in a month.

Police Rescue Four At Blaze in Revere

An 11-year-old Revere boy was overcome by smoke today as police rescued him, two younger brothers and his mother from their second-floor home in Mountain ave.

Fire har broken out in a bedroom next to that in which the mother, Mrs. Anne Tangney, 39, and the three children, Daniel, 11, John, nine, and James, seven, were sleeping.

Patrolman Joseph Hartnett and John Roach, passing in a cruising car, saw smoke pouring from a window.

They aroused Mrs. Tangney and assisted her and the three boys to the street. John was overcome, but revived.

The blaze had started in a bed in which the father, John Tangney, had slept before going to work.

The policemen extinguished it without sounding an alarm.

EX-LYNN MAN SLAIN IN BLAZE IS BELIEF

GEORGETOWN, May 6—With circumstances pointing toward possible murder, the charred body of Ralph Redden, 56, widower, who formerly lived in Lynn, was found today after fire swept the two-room structure where he lived alone.

If Redden, whose skull had been fractured in two places and who had a gash in his neck, was murdered, the building, a reconverted barn, was fired by the slayer in an attempt to conceal the crime, authorities said.

State police were called to investigate when firemen discovered that two holes had been smashed in the skull.

MURDER IS HINTED

Although Medical Examiner Elmer S. Bagnall said it was possible that Redden could have been struck by falling beams, he said he was doubtful.

The murder theory was lent greater significance when Police Chief Louis M. Holt revealed that Redden, little more than a month ago, had reported that a shot was fired at him through a window, the shot narrowly missing him.

According to Chief Holt, the body was found on a burned cot on the first floor of the reconverted barn by Fire Chief Alton Cook, who had responded to an alarm sounded by a neighbor, William Bailey, Elm st.

There was blood on the pillow of the cot beneath the dead man's head.

CAME FROM LYNN

State Detective Richard J. Griffin, assigned to the case, was told by Chief Holt that Redden came to Georgetown from Lynn last November.

Since then he had been occupying the barn on the Elm st. farm, as a caretaker for the owner, Harold Conant, of Saugus, and had eked out welfare money he was receiving by the building of lobster pots.

Several years ago the old farmhouse on the property was destroyed by fire.

LOST AND FOUND—Missing from his Somerville home since early Sunday, Donald Miller, 5, is delivered to his father, James, by Sergt. James A. Fitzpatrick after the boy was found asleep in a nearby theater.

LOST BOY 4, SPENT 12 HOURS AT MOVIES

Four-year-old Donald Miller of Somerville went to the movies —and stayed there for 12 hours while his frantic parents, neighbors and police searched the city for him, until he was found in the theater today.

The child vanished yesterday afternoon. As darkness fell, scores of persons pressed a search of vacant lots, buildings and railroad yards. His description was broadcast by police radio and teletype.

Then one of his small playmates remembered Donald had boasted he was going to the movies.

Police searched two theaters, without success. Hours later, practically at the end of their resources, a squad of officers decided to make one more check of a theater in Cross st., near the missing boy's home.

As Sergt. James A. Fitzpatrick and Patrolman Charles Ellis opened the door, they were greeted by the child. He grinned, blinked at the bright flashlights and said:

"I wasn't scared—I was here all the time—maybe I got sleepy."

The officers carried the lad to his father, James H. Miller of Tufts st., Somerville, who took him home for a little more sleep, despite his 12-hour rest.

3 Are Killed and 15 Injured In Week-End Auto Accidents

Three persons dead and 15 injured was the toll reported today of week-end accidents in Massachusetts as state and local police find highways crowded with automobiles.

Miss Ruth Rapples, 18, of Arch st., North Abington, and Edward Kubicki, 21, of Broad st., Bridgewater, were killed in Brockton when their car went out of control on a curve, struck a tree and turned over two times.

Mary Kofton, 20, of Snow st., Brockton, and Alfred Morris, 19, of Snow st., Bridgewater, narrowly escaped death in the same crash. They were dragged, injured, from the wreckage. Both will recover, doctors at the Brockton Hospital said.

The girls had entered the car only a few minutes before the accident. Miss Croston had stepped into the car from Polish White Eagles Hall and then it was driven to the home of Miss Rapples in North Abington, who got in.

Coming through this city the car ran off the road and the noise it made as it struck the tree attracted the attention of residents. Ralph Byron of West Bridgewater, who was in another car, lifted the dead and injured into his machine and drove them to Brockton Hospital.

In Methuen, a hit-and-run driver crashed into a car driven by Mrs. Marion Gordon, 40, of Salem, N. H., and sent six persons to the hospital. Three men jumped out of the other machine and fled into the woods. The injured were treated at Lawrence General Hospital.

Injured were Mrs. Gordon, her four-year-old son Earl, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barker, of Salem, N. H., and their daughter, Margaret, 7, and George Barker, 76. Most seriously hurt was Frank Barker, with a broken left arm. The abandoned car was registered in the name of a Lawrence man.

BODY RECOVERED—Drowned with his brother and another boy while playing on ice floes off Carson beach last January, the body of Ralph Whitehouse, 8, is placed on stretcher by police after being found on the beach.

6 DROWNING VICTIMS' BODIES ARE FOUND

Search for drowning victims, some of them vigils of several months, ended today with the recovery of six bodies in New England.

Four months after he and two other boys were drowned while playing pirates on ice floes, the body of Ralph Whitehouse, eight, of Old Colony ave., South Boston, was found on Carson beach.

Ever since the drowning, the boy's grief-stricken father, Benjamin Whitehouse, had walked the beaches and was not far from the scene when his son's body was discovered. Another son, Wallace, 12, also was a victim in the triple drowning.

In the Mystic river, police discovered the body of George S. Berry, 57, of Sycamore st., Somerville, who vanished three months ago. At that time, his coat and hat were found on Somerville beach.

The body of Owen J. McFadden, father of three children, was recovered from Little river in Haverhill. He had been missing for more than a month.

At the same time, positive identification was made of a body found at Terrill's wharf, South Boston, as that of John J. Conroy of Noanet st., South End.

On Attean pond, near Jackman, Me., a woodsman discovered the bodies of two hunters lost last October. The victims, Edward Zaleski, 23, and Anthony Howaniec, 22, of Lewiston, Me., were seen encased in ice and volunteers set out to recover them.

Death Penalty For 3 Dogs

REHOBOTH, May 6—Destruction of four dogs which savagely attacked eight-year-old John Frykman of this town two weeks ago has been ordered, George S. West, chairman of the town selectmen, said today.

West said that William Kimmel, owner of the dogs, will be given "three or four days" in which to destroy the dogs himself or appeal the order, during which time the animals will be restrained. The Frykman boy, who was chewed and mauled to a point close to death when attacked, is still at Sturdy Memorial Hospital in Attleboro.

Berserk Waiter Kills 3 in Rage

MARTIN'S FERRY, O., May 6 (AP)—A disgruntled waiter went beserk in a small restaurant here, turning a pistol on the proprietor and customers and fatally wounding three men.

The shooting followed refusal by the restaurant owner to advance money to his employe, William Sevastis, 53.

Arrested outside the establishment, gun in hand, the waiter was quoted by Patrolman George Helt:

"I just got mad and didn't know what I was doing."

Slain were Mike Manos, the proprietor; Gus Gramatakis, 50, father of four children; and John Levanis, 39. Two others were wounded.

SPRAINED HANDS COST OF RESCUE

Two sprained hands were nursed today by Patrolman Buford A. Curyea of the Jamaica Plain station, injured when he leaped between an oncoming auto and a crippled girl to save her life.

While doing his customary traffic duty Saturday evening at the Arborway and South st., the officer saw the lame girl, who, he said, passed the spot every weekday night, apparently on her way home.

Curyea said he held up one hand to halt traffic, and with the other motioned for the girl to cross. She was part way over when he discovered that an automobile had started to move in her direction.

The policeman sprang between the girl and the car, with both hands held up, and was struck and knocked backward several feet, but managed to save the girl at the expense of sprained hands.

After receiving treatment from Dr. Frederick Beering of South st., he was sent home, but because of the condition of his hands was unable to take his place in the police band. The girl went her way without giving her name.

Senate Deal Foes Fight 3 Measures

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Following the House pigeonholing of wage-hour amendments, congressional action shifts this week to the Senate, where Administration leaders are trying to kill three measures:

1—The bill by Sen. Townsend (R.) of Delaware to end Treasury purchases of foreign silver.

2—A resolution to block President Roosevelt's transfer of the Civil Aeronautics Authority to the Commerce Department.

3—The Logan-Walter bill, approved by the House, to subject orders of federal agencies to court review.

The leadership conceded that it faced tough battles on all the issues, and its opponents were predicting gleefully that an anti-Administration coalition of Democrats and Republicans would triumph in one-two-three order.

DEBATE TO START

The legislation to end foreign silver buying was up for debate today, and a final vote was expected tomorrow. At immediate issue was an amendment by Sen. Pittman (D.) of Nevada, to permit the continuation of such purchases, provided that foreign sellers used proceeds from silver sales to buy American farm products.

Democratic Leader Barkley said that the suggestion would terminate silver purchases from Latin America and would be almost as thorough as Townsend's original legislation in stopping the present program.

The Logan-Walter bill providing for court review of agency regulations is being studied by the Senate Judiciary Committee. Senator Barkley said that he would ask the group to hold hearings, for he contended that the Senate should delay action until the Justice Department completes a pending study of administrative rulings.

If the legislation should be approved, Administration sources said, President Roosevelt would veto it.

McCARRAN IN LEAD

Sen. McCarron was leading the fight against Mr. Roosevelt's plan to put the Civil Aeronautics Authority in the Commerce Department. Both Houses must vote against the transfer in order to stop it.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House minority leader, spoke out last night against the President's plan, declaring in a statement:

"I am hopeful that by prompt non-partisan action this week our great civil aviation industry may be spared further disruption and embarrassment at the hands of political bureaucrats."

Mother of Five Seeks to Annul Marriage to Kin

SALEM, May 6—When she was only 13 years and 5 months old, she was married ot her father's brother, Carmella Reitano, 29, of Bedford st., Lynn, told Judge John A. Costello today in probate court in seeking an annulment of the marriage.

Mother of five children, four of whom are living, the witness said she lived with Gioacchino (John) Reitano from Jan. 13, 1924, until 1932, when she left him upon being informed by a lawyer that her marriage to an uncle was illegal in this state.

The lawyer informed her that instead of the divorce upon which she had consulted him, she should seek an annulment, but she did nothing about it at the time.

She said also that the marriage ceremony she went through was with the consent of her father and mother. The four sons now living are Torino, 15; Daniel, 14; Tosca, 12, and John, Jr., 10.

Antonio Reitano, another brother of her father, testified that while he was not present at the marriage he knew of it.

Judge Costello took the annulment petition under advisement.

JOHNSON RIFLE TO GET TEST

WASHINGTON, May 6—Capt. Melvin M. Johnson, Boston inventor and one-time Harvard oarsman, sought today to have U. S. marines do some of the shooting Thursday when his Johnson automatic rifle is given the long-awaited test with the War Department's new Garand.

Capt. Johnson

The request, made to members of the Senate committee on military affairs, probably will be granted, officers stated.

The department had scheduled army men to do the testing but Johnson, a Marine Corps reserve officer, requested that sea-soldier experts try out both weapons while U. S. senators look on.

Although secrecy veils the tests, it was known that the Senate committee has insisted that a fair and impartial test of the weapons be made after several years of controversy and startling charges made during recent weeks.

Charges have been made that the government has spent millions on the Garand, only to have that weapon prove ineffectual at rapid fire. Senators were told that the Garand, made at the U. S. plant at Springfield, Mass. became so hot that soldiers could not hold it and that its accuracy faded considerably under constant fire.

Johnson, whose rifle has been designated by many experts as the better of the two, has sought government acceptance unsuccessfully for many years.

Army Move Waited In Soldier's Case

Police today communicated with army authorities in efforts to dispose of the case of Private Clifford Gardner, U. S. A., of Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., arrested on a charge of carrying a revolver without a permit.

The soldier, who was arrested in Scollay sq., by Patrolman Richard Conroy, is declared to be a week overdue on his leave. Gardner said he found the gun outside the fort.

Sleep in House? Never! Gives Up $24 Dole First

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., May 6 (AP)—David Wilkie, 68, denied a $24.50 monthly old age assistance check by the Seneca County welfare committee because he refused to move into a room, still prefers to sleep under a barn.

A horseman more than 50 years, Wilkie said:

"I haven't lived in a house more than six months in I don't know when. I'm too old to change my habits now."

To which Welfare Commissioner Emerson O'Connor replied the law provides the commissioner "must find a suitable home for anyone receiving public assistance."

With Supreme Court Justice Benn Kenyon of Auburn, N. Y., O'Connor inspected Wilkie's living quarters. The commissioner called them "terrible." The justice denied Wilkie a mandamus writ, but Wilkie and his attorney, Ernest G. Gould, said the legal fight has only begun.

"When a man isn't housebroken it just isn't constitutional to ask him to sleep in a stuffy room—and I'm not going to do it," Wilkie declares with emphasis.

Four Youths Quizzed In Series of Thefts

Four youths, taken into custody in a police roundup during the night, were questioned today concerning a series of thefts and assaults.

One victim, Albert Bates, 47, of Lamartine st., Jamaica Plain, was robbed of $4 at Washington and Northampton sts., South End, then given a terrific beating. He suffered a fractured nose, broken jaw and two black eyes.

Three men were stabbed during attempted robberies in the South End. John Hurley, 29, of Longfellow st., Dorchester, the most seriously injured, was placed on the City Hospital danger list.

Also wounded were Lawrence Cosgrove, 24, of Clarkson st., Dorchester, and John Chase, 29, of Baxter st., South Boston.

Arthur Dupont of Summer st., Lynn, said that while walking in Bowdoin square he was pushed into a doorway by two men and robbed of $10.

John Gregis, 21, of Lowell st., West End, reported that two men attempted to rob him in Bowdoin square, but he beat them off. Gregis was treated at Massachusetts General Hospital for lacerations of the face.

Miss Katherine Burke, 22, of Fisher ave., Roxbury, told police that while walking on Huntington ave., near the Museum of Fine Arts, she was seized by a hugger, who fled when she screamed.

According to Agnes C. Ochs of Vernon st., Norwood, while she was walking on Boylston st., a billfold containing $141 and her drivers license disappeared from her pocketbook.

Rose Solazzo, 28, of Center st., Roxbury, reported that while walking on Dudley st., near Lambert ave., a man seized her wrist, twisted it, and fled with the handbag she was compelled to drop. The handbag contained rosary beads and a small amount of money, she said.

Double Killing Suspects Held

STOCKTON, Cal., May 6 (AP)—Two Negro ex-convicts were held on suspicion of murder charges today in the slaying of a young man and woman whose throat-slashed bodies were found in a field Friday. They are Dewey Clark, 29, and Henry Jones, 38, and the slain pair were Nathan Chinchiolo, 23, and Dorothy Woofter, 19.

The Negroes vigorously denied knowledge of the crime, despite their identification by a garage mechanic, Walter B. Guyon, as the men who stopped in Tracy shortly after midnight last Sunday for repairs to Chinchiolo's automobile.

Police said the suspects told conflicting stories after they were brought here from Fresno, where Chinchiolo's car was abandoned and where the Negroes were arrested. Clark maintained he and Jones were in Bakersfield last week-end, but Jones said he was in Fresno. Both insisted they had not been in Stockton or Tracy for several years.

Authorities fixed the time of the double slaying as last Sunday night.

Chinchiolo and Miss Woofter were last seen in Chinchiolo's automobile about 8 p. m. that night as they parted from friends. Their bodies, hands and legs tied, throats slashed and gags crammed into the mouths were found by a motorist.

Tobin Lauds Hospital Day

All Greater Boston residents today were urged by Mayor Tobin to observe National Hospital Day Sunday with a visit to a hospital.

In an official proclamation, the mayor said:

"Present day importance of hospitals is evidenced by these statistics: A sick or injured person is admitted to, or a baby born in, one of the 7000 hospitals in the United States every 3.3 seconds of the day and night.

"A million patients are cared for in hospitals every day in the year. It is fitting that citizens should visit and inspect a hospital on Hospital Day to observe the facilities maintained for public necessity."

68 Enroll Here As Missionaries

A total of 68 young men and women, between the ages of 17 and 27, today were enrolled for missionary work in foreign countries in the climax to three missionary services at Park Street Church.

The group who volunteered their services included Miss Ruth Decker and Willard Heck of Westwood, N. J., who are engaged to be married, and who will go together into missionary work in Brazil.

War Like Hens Scratching

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

What we don't understand about this war is how it breaks out at unexpected places like the seams on a fat boy.

War seems to be like your hens scratching in the neighbors' gardens.

The neighbors get all the grief and are entitled to none of the eggs.

It's a good idea. Under this system United States could declare war on Siam and both of us could knock the whiskers off Somaliland.

Rivers Recede, Fear Of N. E. Floods Over

Fears of New England floods abated today as rain ceased and rivers and streams receded at their headwaters.

The Connecticut and Merrimack rivers dropped steadily in the north. The Androscoggin did likewise, although the Saco river in Maine rose to the highest mark since the 1936 flood. No serious damage was predicted, however.

The Merrimack, pelted with a steady downpour and melting snow in New Hampshire, had flooded areas about Concord, N. H., but with cessation of rain the waters began to recede.

At Lawrence the river reached a height of 38 feet, which is five feet below flood stage, but had only risen 11 inches in 24 hours. The crest was expected to pass some time today without further rise.

Fear of Hartford, Springfield and other cities on the Connecticut was allayed as word was flashed from headwaters that rains had ceased in Vermont and the river had begun to recede.

Water at Turner's Falls was pouring over the power company dam at a rate of 105,000 cubic feet a second as it reached a crest at noon. Officials there said a rise from 98,000 feet recorded Saturday night was due to local rains in the lower watershed. No trouble was expected.

Low lying areas about Springfield and at Holyoke and other points on the river were inundated but only in a degree usually encountered and expected in the spring.

Runnells Probe Records Missing, 'Leak' Checked

AUGUSTA, Me., May 6—Investigators for the attorney-general's office today sought to determine the source of a "leak" in the seal of secrecy surrounding probe of the Runnells case.

Outside sources have learned the identities and statements of prospective witnesses before Atty.-Gen. Franz U. Burkett, it was indicated.

The reported leak was disclosed with the rumored disappearance of certain state records, urgently needed to complete a phase of the investigation.

Meanwhile, it was learned that state police have withdrawn a watch on the homes of two persons alleged to be connected with the case of the accused former State Controller William A. Runnells.

State police established the watch on the suspects too late to make it valuable, it was said. Police were not given authority to shadow the suspects until more than a week after Runnells was formally charged with embezzlement of huge sums of state money.

During that interval, they said certain valuable records have disappeared.

RUSSELL CODE IS FLAYED AS POISON TO CHILDREN

Criticism of Bertrand Russell reached the boiling point today after speakers at communion breakfasts in Boston denounced the English philosopher in scorching terms.

Russell is teaching Hell's own doctrine, declared Charles O'Connor, clerk of the Massachusetts Supreme Court. He spoke before the joint communion breakfast of South Boston Council, Knights of Columbus, and Court South Boston, Catholic Daughters of America, at the Parker House.

"It is pathetic," declared Rev. Edward L. Murphy, S. J., of Weston, before the Massachusetts Chapter, International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, at Hotel Statler, "to hear our liberals screaming about the totalitarian's disregard for personal rights and sounding off in loud but uncertain terms about our wonderful mode of living."

O'Connor, in his attack on the educator who has been engaged by Harvard for a series of lectures this fall, said:

HIT AS SELF-CONVICTED

"By his own statement Russell has convicted himself of immorality according to the standards and customs of this nation," he said.

"He not only flaunts his own violations of the moral code, but has publicly stated that he does not expect his children to observe the moral order."

In a scathing criticism of the appointment of the thrice-married sponsor of companionate marriage to Harvard, O'Connor warned that "crackpots in education are trying to put Russell in a position where he can influence our youth."

"His supporters plead for educational freedom. But call it what you may, the substance of his doctrine is the same.

"POISON TO CHILDREN"

"It is the same as offering children cyanide of potassium and calling it ice cream!"

"We must do something," he said, "if public institutions continue to disregard the public good. For public education is a matter of grave public concern."

More than 500 members of the two organizations attended the breakfast after receiving communion in a body at 8 o'clock mass at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, South Boston.

Other speakers were Rev. Matthew P. Stapleton, D. D., professor at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, and John P. Parks, postmaster.

VARNISH-FREE JENNEY GASOLINE

gives you more miles per gallon!

• Varnish that looks and feels like the varnish that painters use, forms on valves and pistons of your high-compression modern car. See why it costs you money

Take two pieces of smooth metal. They slide over each other easily. Coat one with varnish and try it again. You have to use many times the strength

That's what happens (with gasoline that is not Solvenized*) in the cylinders of your car. Varnish on pistons acts as a drag—you have to use more gasoline to get the same power out of your car. Allowed to build up, varnish can stick your cylinders so tight you have to take down the motor to clean it out

Why waste that money, take that chance? The patented Solvenized* process makes Jenney Gasoline varnish-free, and when used with Jenney Solvenoil in the crankcase the performance is still further improved. When Jenney Solvenized and Solvenoil are the power team, working parts operate smoothly with minimum friction and wear, compression stays up because harmful hard carbon is not formed, the gasoline you buy is used to drive your car, not to overcome drag

Any car regularly driven with Jenney Solvenized will be more powerful, need less tune-up, give more mileage than with any other gasoline. Jenney guarantees it. Try Jenney today and save autopsy disclosed she was attacked and her skull fractured in five places.

Sex Fiend Hunted In Second Murder

IRON BAR IN AUTO

Police said the slayer apparently stopped her car, attacked her in it and threw her out before fleeing in his own auto. In Miss Gates' car they found a three-foot iron pinch bar, such as is used by house-wrecking crews. That might have been the death weapon, they said.

No weapon and few worthwhile clues came to light in the Taylor case. Miss Taylor, daughter of a Wildwood, N. J., fish dealer, was slain March 28 upon returning to college from an Easter vacation at her home.

Snatched up on the main street of State College, she was driven a short distance from the campus and also bludgeoned to death. Her abdomen was mutilated, but physicians could not say definitely whether she was otherwise mistreated.

2 CRIMES SIMILAR

Investigators pointed out the following main similarities in the slayings:

Both girls were victims of sex attacks and were killed in the same manner — their skulls fractured with a blunt instrument. The slayer in each case had an automobile. The legs of both girls were run over by a car.

Penn State College students, who helped post a $2500 reward for capture of the Taylor girl's slayer, were shocked by the Gates case. Many came here from State College, 12 miles away, to follow progress of the investigation. Bellefonte is the site of Rockview prison, which houses the state's executive chamber.

Pension Scheme Lashed by Green

WASHINGTON, May 6 (INS)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor warned the A. F. of L.'s working millions against "blue sky" old age pension schemes.

In a pamphlet entitled "A Rainbow Pot of Gold, or Dependable Income for Old Age," mailed to all Federation affiliates, Green scored "persons" offering workers "soft promises" of pensions and said more adequate unemployment insurance, disability coverage and health insurance should come before increased old age assistance.

"The American Federation of Labor," wrote Green, "is working to get the coverage of the (Social Security) law extended. Later, as the whole program of social insurance is brought in a well-rounded fashion to more adequate levels, it may be possible to improve the benefits of old age insurance."

Girl Gets Milk Bath in Crash

Zella Black, 18-year-old Lynn girl, had an unexpected milk bath today when a dairy truck in which she was riding was in collision with a bakery wagon at Parrott and Chatham sts., Lynn.

Miss Black, whose home is in Clarendon ave., Lynn, was on her way to work and had been given a ride by the truck driver, listed by police as Harvey Locke, 27, of Jackson st. Locke, Miss Black, and Joseph Cashman, 29 of Essex st., another passenger, were showered by milk.

John Drew, 38, of Parker ave., Lynn, was the driver of the bakery truck, according to police. All escaped with slight bruises.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 10¢ and 25¢. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

"Speed wins in motor-cycle racing! Slow burning wins in the cigarette field!"

says JIMMIE KELLY,
Champion Motor-cycle Racer
and Enthusiastic Camel Smoker

ON THE FAST SIDE—A 50-mile-an-hour skid, and Jimmie Kelly (No. 43) whips into the lead on the beach at Daytona. On a motor-cycle Jimmie Kelly is a riding champion, but when it comes to cigarettes, this record-breaking driver is on the slow side...the slow-burning Camel side.

ON A MOTOR-CYCLE I GO FOR SPEED IN A BIG WAY, BUT I KEEP MY SMOKING ON THE SLOW-BURNING SIDE WITH CAMELS. THAT WAY I GET A LOT OF 'EXTRAS'— IN MILDNESS, COOLNESS, FLAVOR—AND CAMEL'S SLOW WAY OF BURNING MEANS EXTRA SMOKING PER PACK

CHAMPION Jimmie Kelly (left) is just one of thousands of experienced smokers who have discovered that Camel's slower way of burning means several definite advantages. Being slower-burning, Camels are free from the drying, uncomfortable qualities of excess heat. They give you extra mildness and extra coolness... always so welcome. Slower burning makes the most of the full, rich flavor of Camel's costlier tobaccos. Camels give you extra flavor...don't tire your taste. The extra smoking in Camels is a matter of the smokers' experience as well as of impartial laboratory record. So get more pleasure per puff and more puffs per pack. Get Camels. Penny for penny, Camels are your best cigarette buy!

"ON THE SLOW SIDE"—That's Jimmie Kelly's way—and the way of millions of other smokers—of saying that he prefers the slower-burning cigarette ...Camel. "That's where the 'extras' are in cigarette pleasure and value," explains Jimmie (above).

● In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to

5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

THE CIGARETTE OF COSTLIER TOBACCOS

SMOKERS:
SAVE THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX

Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (See panel at right.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get this unique economy—and all the extra enjoyment of cooler, milder smoking—the fragrance and delicate taste of finer, more costly tobaccos.

Slower-burning Camels give you—

EXTRA MILDNESS

EXTRA COOLNESS

EXTRA FLAVOR

Nazi Troops Mass to Invade Balkans

sources said there is "absolutely no truth" to reports that the British intend to march troops through Greece.)

A new spy scare in Hungary, resulting in the arrest of 200 persons suspected of working for both France and Russia.

Uneasiness was manifest throughout the southeastern capitals, in a state of high tension for weeks past, and many diplomats, including United States officials, sent pessimistic reports to their governments.

U. S. ENVOYS PESSIMISTIC

Belgrade verged on a panic for a short time yesterday following a radio announcement that removal of civilians from the city had been recommended by the government. Fears were allayed, however, when it was explained the announcement was a misleading rebroadcast of a lecture of air raid precautions.

Germany and Britain, meanwhile, were reported engaged in a diplomatic struggle to obtain assurances of Bulgarian support in event of trouble in the southeast.

Both Dr. Karl Clodius, German economic expert, and Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to Turkey, were known to have conferred with government officials in Sofia.

OFFER BULGARS CORRIDOR

The nature of Clodius' proposals was unknown, but Sir Hughe was understood to have made Bulgaria a promise of a large British loan and a corridor to the Aegean sea, a thing she long has wanted.

The British plan was reported to include a deal involving Greece and Turkey, already on close terms, whereby the former would cede Bulgaria the Aegean corridor, in return for certain concessions.

Britain's purpose in wooing Bulgaria, Sofia sources said, was to insure a land route for troops to Rumania should the necessity arise.

The reports of Turkish troop concentrations along the Greek and Bulgarian frontiers received official cognizance in Sofia, where opinion was expressed that the action was "in accordance with British desires and connected with England's aims in the Mediterranean."

The presence of Turkish forces near the Bulgarian border was said to be in apparent disregard of a mutual agreement between the two countries. Bulgarian officials said they had given Turkey no cause for such action.

ALLIES TO LAND TROOPS

The circulation of reports, attributed to German sources, that the Allies were planning to land troops at Salonika coincided with the official opening of a strategic new railway line running northward from that Aegean port through the Struma river valley.

Salonika offers the most direct gateway for the entrance of allied troops in the event war comes to the Balkans, and the new railway would prove a valuable aid in their movement.

The Greeks deny reports of a secret agreement to let Britain and France, both of whom have guaranteed her independence, to use the port, but foreign observers doubt that Greece would offer any objections if war comes

REDS WANT A SLICE

Reports of the appearance of Russian reinforcements along the Ruthenian frontier were regarded as a hopeful sign by some quarters in Budapest, which interpreted this development as a sign of Moscow's determination to forestall any German-Italian plan to divide the Balkans.

Information furnished by the German Gestapo was said to have led to the spy roundup in Hungary, which government circles said had smashed a huge organization engaged in espionage and propaganda activities.

Paper Lashes Chamberlain

LONDON, May 6 (INS)—On the eve of a possible vote of censure of the government in the House of Commons, the London Evening News today unleashed one of the most savage attacks to date against Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

Branding the Norwegian expedition as "unworthy even of one of the South American Republics," the newspaper asked the question:

"Can we trust this government again?"

It then answered its own question:

"Unequivocally no!"

War Vote Wins In British Union

BLACKPOOL, Eng., May 6 (INS)—By a narrow margin, the powerful National Union of Distributive and Allied Workers today defeated a resolution for immediate cessation of hostilities against Germany. The vote was 62,905 to 58,358.

Many members of Parliament were present when the conference took up the resolution, which termed the war "capitalistic and imperialistic" and called upon the Labor Party and the Trades Union Council to withdraw their support of the government and use all their energies to end the war

British to Reduce Butter Ration Again

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—Because of the cessation of Danish supplies, Britons were told today by Lord Woolton, food minister, to prepare for the reduction at an early date of the butter ration from eight to four ounces each week.

Butter first was rationed at four ounces weekly beginning Jan. 8, but the amount was increased to eight ounces weekly on March 25.

BULLETINS

STOCKHOLM, May 6 (INS)—A German war plane today made a forced landing at Riksgraensen, Swedish frontier station on the iron ore railway to Narvik, Norway. The crew was interned.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 6 (INS)—Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to Turkey who now is in Sofia, has formally requested King Boris to grant allied and Turkish troops the right of passage through Bulgaria in event of war in the Balkans, German diplomatic circles said today.

ATHENS, May 6 (AP)—Italian Minister Raffaele Boscarelli returned today by airplane from Rome and immediately engaged in a long conference with Premier John Metaxas.

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht, accompanied by Defense Minister Col. Birger Ljunberg and Erik Colban, Norwegian minister to London, conferred with Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary ord Halifax today.

Chamberlain Ready To Defend Policies

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 6—While the British admiralty held steadfastly to its denial of Berlin's claim that German bombers sank a British battleship and cruiser, Prime Minister Chamberlain and his spokesmen prepared today to defend the government against rising criticism over the Norwegian campaign.

Chamberlain and his cabinet colleagues were busy preparing speeches which they will deliver tomorrow before the House of Commons in defense of the government's war policies.

Although criticism still mounted and it was plain the Chamberlain government faces a severe test, politic l circles nevertheless felt Chamberlain's full revelations regarding the Norwegian campaign may give members of Parliament a new perspective regarding events that preceded the British withdrawal.

It was understood reliably that Chamberlain would review the entire Norwegian situation from begining to end.

Despite the Admiralty denial of the Berlin claims regarding the sinking of a British battleship and cruiser, there was a possibility of formal Parliamentary censure of the government for the allied failure in Norway.

The Admiralty communique stated:

"The German claim to have sunk a British battleship and cruiser of the York class in operations off Namsos is untrue."

Admiralty circles later informally characterized as "bunk" a new German claim that a British battleship was hit by a heavy calibre German bomb yesterday off the far northern Harstad-Narvik coastal area.

CHURCHILL 'SPOKESMAN'

Amid the gathering political storm, it was understood appointment of First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill as sole spokesman of Britin's war cabinet would be announced in Commons tomorrow.

Under this new arrangement, the work of co-ordination of the armed forces would be conducted exclusively by the chiefs of staff, with Churchill as chairman. The change is being made in response to complaints that the old arrangement imposed undesirable delays.

While much depended upon the revelations Chamberlain will make tomorrow, it seemed clear that he is facing the most critical situation to confront him since he became prime minister.

While the British press kept up its hostile barrage, groups of Parliament members met over the week-end to consider their attitude toward the government.

MAY DEMAND VOTE

As a result of these meetings, it appeared likely that if Chamberlain is unable to present an acceptable defense and explanation of the government's conduct of the Norwegian campaign, the opposition will force a vote of censure at the end of the debate on Wednesday.

If this is not done, there is a possibility the government may make the matter a vote of confidence Commening on this, Chamberlain's spokesmen said the government will be able to meet the criticism and survive the political crisis

It was learned an influential group of Conservatives headed by the Marquess of Salisbury met over the week-end and made representations to Chamberlain that the present circumstances, in their opinion, necessitated immediate formation of a wider national government.

Chamberlain was said to have rejected this suggestion "brusquely."

Significantly, however, the Conservative Times in an editorial stated Labourites "must" enter the government.

NAZIS RUSH AID TO NARVIK

British battleship and a heavy cruiser off Namsos on Friday.

(The British admiralty today followed up the denial with announcement of the sinking of the destroyer Afridi by German air attack off Namsos.)

Hitler's orders to remove the Narvik detachments, which have been under siege shortly after the Germans went into Norway on April 9, upset all theories thus far aired in informed circles.

(The Narvik Nazi forces have been estimated in British and French reports at between 2000 and 5000 men.)

HAD PLANNED RETREAT

For weeks, the German press in dealing with Narvik wrote of it as unimportant in the Norwegian developments.

In private talks, sources usually well informed intimated that Hitler would soon gives orders to the bottled up Germans in the ore port and its vicinity to retreat strategically to the Swedish border if necessary and let themselves be interned in Sweden.

Germany's lack of control of the airport which commands Narvik was given as one reason why the withdrawal would ensue as a strategic necessity.

Even those persons in official circles who believed the Germans could hold out at Narvik seem to have had no inkling of Hitler's plans to send reinforcements by land. They counted on the efficacy of the German air force to drive British ships away with the coming of better weather, thus permitting reinforcements to be sent by water.

CALLED NAZI ALCAZAR

The feeling that Narvik is becoming the Nazi "Alcazar" was expressed by Education Minister Bernhard Rust in an address to German youth

(Spanish Nationalists withstood a 71-day siege in the Alcazar fortress at Toledo during the Spanish Civil War and were rescued when Nationalist troops captured the city.)

Hitler appears to have decided on solving the Narvik problem by sending troops by land in a manner mindful in its dramatic possibilities of "Hannibal's crossing the Alps.

There is this difference, however.

While the German troops are on this last bottle-neck of 200 most difficult miles, the Nazi air force can be counted upon to protect them against possible enemy surprises.

The high commands laconic statement in its communique that "our troops started to advance northward from Grong," eastward of the port of Namsos which was abandoned last week by the Allies gives no idea of the magnitude of the task.

That Germany now regards Narvik again as of major importance is indicated by the fact that powerful divers went directly from Namsos, after they were reported to have sunk a battleship of the Queen Elizabeth class and a heavy cruiser to Narvik to do the "real" there

OUTLET FOR ORE

Germany, whose England is interested chiefly in two things ores and oil.

Hitler apparently had decided he must make doubly sure of remaining in possession of Narvik as the [illegible] Swedish Kiruna mines.

Meanwhile, authorized sources said they were wondering whether and where England next would try to widen the area of conflict. Since England hopes to cut Germany off from oil as well as ores, the Mediterranean still is considered the likely scene of major impending events.

At the same time authorized sources kept warning that all talk about the Mediterranean might be a blind and that the alleged Balkan plan really are focused elsewhere.

The German airmen blasting at the last allied foothold in Norway were reported to have blown up a munitions dump as well as hit a other battleship.

The Nazi report said heavy smoke arising from the wreck showed effect of the bomb

Bureau Raps County Agencies' Spending

County agencies are the spendthrift children of government in Boston, the Boston Municipal Research Bureau charged today.

Both praise and mild criticism of the city administration was expressed by the bureau in a bulletin which reported progress of the city's no-hiring policy.

But of county government, payrolls of which were reported to have gone up from $2,233,156 in 1931 to $2,591,811 in 1940, the bureau declared:

"Since county payrolls are now at peak, it is important to inquire why personnel policies which produced savings in city departments have had so little success in the county.

"In the answer lies an explanation of many of the weaknesses of county government in Boston."

The bureau, headed by Chairman A. Lawrence Lowell and Secretary Herman C. Loeffler, urged even stricter application of City Hall of the no-hiring policy, under which vacancies resulting from retirement, resignation and death are left unfilled.

While commending Mayor Tobin for "effectively applying the policy," the bureau stated that absence of unified control of all the city's departments has caused an uneven application of the plan.

While 571 employes have been eliminated over a two-year period, the bureau bulletin said, "only $288,418 has been cut" from the city payroll.

"Total payroll costs are $800,000 under the 1931 peak," the bureau said, "school and county increases have offset the savings in the city department by more than one-third."

The bureau urged that the Mayor be given veto power over school and county personnel increases.

Most county agencies are headed by independent elective officials or appointees of the Governor and Council who are "beyond the direct control of the city administration and enjoy wide power," the bureau said.

A downward trend of county payrolls is unlikely, the bureau continued, until a court test, now under way, determines whether the city has power over county personnel.

The police department also was classified with county agencies and schools as virtually "a law unto themselves."

Both the police and fire departments were pointed out as illustrations of the difficulties of political pressure inherent in no-hiring.

"With every indication of overmanning in both departments, payroll adjustment was well under way in 1937, when over 300 employes were added," the bureau said. "The downward trend was then resumed until 32 patrolmen were recruited last January. Some firemen and policemen may be added later this year."

The bureau said 191 permanent teachers were added to the school system in two years, although a 10 per cent decline from peak school enrollments has lowered demand for teachers.

Police Kill Husband After Wife Asks Aids

FLINT, Mich., May 6 (AP)—Robert Taylor, 41, operator of a dental laboratory, was shot and fatally wounded today by police in the basement of his home.

The police report said Taylor's wife telephoned for help saying he was dangerous while intoxicated. Two patrolmen found him in the basement armed with a rifle, and called reinforcements. A patrolman killed him.

HYDE PARK FIGHTS CUT IN TRAINS

Hyde Park commuters boarded their remaining two trains for Boston today with speeches, still ringing in their ears, and on the trains signed petitions for hourly service during a month's trial.

Together with that of Dedham, the Hyde Park train service curtailment went into effect today, despite last minute action of Sen. Thomas H. Burke of the district in filing a restraining bill in superior court.

In his petition for a writ of mandamus, Sen. Burke seeks to compel the New Haven Railroad and the Public Utilities Commission to restore Hyde Park's train service in full. The petition will be heard tomorrow by Judge Frederick W. Greenhalge in equity motions session.

COUNCIL PLAN ACTION

Meanwhile a city council committee, headed by President William J. Galvin of Charlestown, was expected to take up the matter of the Hyde Park curtailment this afternoon.

Before commuters boarded their trains today City Councilor James J. Goode of Hyde Park addressed them at the station, advocating the month's trial of hourly trains and asserting this would prove a financial success.

FOUR FEWER TRAINS

Four trains were dropped under the new Hyde Park schedule, the 7:31 a. m. and the 12:49 p. m. (standard time) from Hyde Park to Boston, and the 7:15 a. m. and 8:45 p. m. from Boston to Hyde Park.

New schedule, all Eastern standard time, trains leave Hyde Park daily except Sunday, 6:32 and 7:25 a. m. Leaving Boston for Hyde Park, 12:40 p. m. Saturdays only; 2:35, 3:15 and 4:13, daily except Saturday and Sunday; 4:20, Saturday only, and 4:35, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

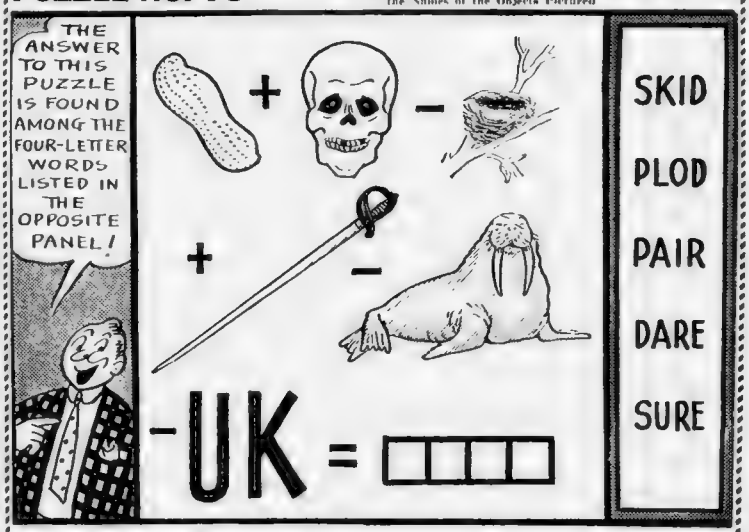
Send in each of these remaining series regularly. After you've sent in your six answers for this series (Puzzles 73-78), there'll be only two more weekly series to submit. Remember to accompany each series with 10 cents in coin. And if you need any of the previous puzzles to bring your entry up to date, use the convenient order coupon at the bottom of this announcement.

PUZZLE NO. 73

WHAT WORD DOES THIS PUZZLE REPRESENT? Add and Subtract the Letters Given and the Names of the Objects Pictured



Fill in your solution above, one letter to each square, in the solution diagram that follows the equal sign.

My Name Is _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____

Your answer to this puzzle, together with your solution to the five other Rebus Puzzles appearing from Monday, May 6, to Saturday, May 11, inclusive, should be brought or mailed to the Rebus Editor, Boston Record American, P. O. Box 2058, before Midnight, Saturday, May 11, together with 10c in coin. In return for remittances contestants will receive a special set of puzzles at the close of the contest.

THE RULES

1—The Boston Record-American Rebus Game is open to all bona fide residents of the New England States, except employes of the Boston Record, the Boston American and the Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, any person acting as a proxy for another, and any person who has won $500 or more in any newspaper contest.

2—Beginning Monday, February 12th, 1940, a Rebus puzzle will be published each weekday in the Boston Record and the Boston American. Contestants may obtain their puzzles from either publication. The six puzzles published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen weekly series. Answers for each week's series of puzzles should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor c/o the Boston Record-American Rebus Game. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3—One Hundred (100) prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their solutions, achieve the 100 highest scores. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4—In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, last what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking puzzles and if necessary a second, third or fourth set of tie-breaking puzzles. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking puzzles. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking puzzles without assistance, in the office of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In cases of final ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5—In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of answers with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes each individual file will be duly judged.

To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of puzzles and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, the Boston Record-American will present a special series of fifteen original Rebus puzzles created by Harold Hart, foremost puzzle expert.

6—Any person, by entering this contest, agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record and the Boston American on all matters affecting this contest, including among others, the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the judging of answers, the scoring of solutions, and the interpretation of such instructions (governing individual puzzles) as may be announced by the contest officials. By entering this contest participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record and the Boston American and will not be returned.

7—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. The Boston Record and the Boston American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the Contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American Contest Editor to the Contestant.

Information Corner

QUERY: Is it necessary to submit a perfect set of answers in order to win a prize?

REPLY: No. Prizes will be awarded for the BEST scores achieved in solving the puzzles, in accordance with the rules.

QUERY: I have held up sending in my last week's series because I am waiting for a friend if mine to point my answers on an attractive background. He claims that will help me to win. Is that right?

REPLY: Your friend is all wrong. As plainly stated in the rules, and as mentioned time and again in this contest section, neatness and the attractiveness of submissions do NOT count.

GOP Lays Plans For Party Platform

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Early caucuses to select members of the Republican resolutions committee were predicted today following official word that the group would meet a week before the national convention to draft a party platform.

Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican National Committee announced that he was taking the initiative in assembling the members-designate in Philadelphia about June 17. The convention meets June 24 in that city.

Operating more slowly than their opposition, the Democrats have picked delegates in only 12 states. Five more state groups will be selected this week.

National Chairman James A. Farley is expected to appoint a convention arrangements committee soon and call a meeting to select a keynote speaker and a permanent chairman. The Democrats will hold their convention in Chicago July 15.

Hamilton proposed the pre-convention selection of resolutions committeemen two weeks ago in letters to national and state committee members. He said he had received favorable responses from 36 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii, virtually all expressing "keen enthusiasm."

Republicans will pick 80 more delegates this week, including 8 in Idaho today, 44 in California and 8 in South Dakota tomorrow, and 12 in Arkansas and 8 in North Dakota Saturday.

Democrats will choose 22 delegates in Alabama, 44 in California, 14 in Florida and 8 in South Dakota tomorrow, and 22 in Iowa Saturday.

Principal interest today was trained on Maryland's presidential primary.

In tomorrow's California primary there is no contest on the Republican side, where a slate of 44 delegates is running unpledged.

Four slates are entered on the Democratic ballot. There are two pro-Roosevelt slates, a "Ham and Eggs" pension ticket, and a fourth group favoring Vice-President Garner.

G. O. P. WIN PREDICTED BY DEWEY

NEW YORK, May 6 (INS)—Dist. Atty. Thomas E. Dewey returned from his western tour today with a flat prophesy that the Republican party will be returned to power in the presidential election next November.

For good measure, the New York aspirant to the G. O. P. nomination declared that New York City, Democratic stronghold, would go with the rest of the nation into the Republican camp.

To a crowd of 5000 cheering welcomers in Grand Central station Dewey said:

"Republican leaders and fellow commuters!

"Seeing so many here, I suspect that New York city is going Republican in the next election. And, I bring you this good news:

"My tour through the country convinces me that the country is going Republican, and is rapidly moving toward sanity and the return of the Republican party."

During his 24-day tour, Dewey's Western trip carried him into 16 states.

Fuller Pushes State Drive for Dewey

Likening Thomas E. Dewey to the late President Theodore Roosevelt, former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller today pushed the presidential aspiration of the young New York district attorney warning Republican leaders here against nominating a hand-picked candidate without popular appeal.

The former governor said that since the primaries he has received promises from many delegates that they intend to vote for Dewey. He blamed the small primary vote on dissatisfaction of voters because they were not able to express a preference for a presidential candidate.

In the same breath, Fuller declared that the small vote given to Cong. Joseph W. Martin, lowest in a field of four delegates-at-large, was a rebuke for his killing of the presidential preference primary.

"The impression seems to be growing that the Republicans have in Dewey the nearest approach to Theodore Roosevelt they have had in a presidential candidate in a good many years," Fuller said.

F. D. Urges Pact Not To Bomb Civilians

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt, who has asked warring European nations to refrain from bombing non-combatants, pledged his support today for any international agreement endorsing that principle.

"The bombing of helpless and unprotected civilians is a tragedy which has aroused the horror of all mankind," he wrote the annual convention of the American Red Cross.

"I recall with pride that the United States consistently has taken the lead in urging that this inhuman practice be prohibited."

Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, reported that 250,000 American women had made 2,000,000 garments and surgical dressings in response to demands from Poland, Hungary, Rumania, Lithuania, Latvia, France, England, Finland and Norway.

In addition to $1,000,000 set aside from Red Cross funds to help European war sufferers, he said, the organization has received $400,000 in voluntary contributions.

FOLKS OVER 35 NOW FEEL GOOD

How Sound Sleep, Keen Appetite and More Pep often follow Good Hearty Bowel Activity, when Constipation has caused Gas, Restless Sleep, Sour Stomach, Headache, Nervousness, and Biliousness.

Boston Radio Diet Advisor Says That
Men and Women—Young and Old, Report Glorious New Feeling

Thousands who formerly suffered from restless sleep at night, and miserable heaviness by day, now feel good, eat with appetite, and sleep soundly since using TAM, the fruity preparation to relieve constipation.

"We have seen some perfectly remarkable improvements following the use of TAM for intestinal cleansing," declares Henry K. Rosenberger, Boston's radio diet advisor.

Everybody knows that exercise keeps your muscles firm and vigorous. But when you cannot exercise, the inner muscles as well as the outer ones, frequently become flabby and weak. Then TAM can often be a great help.

TAM benefits your intestinal muscles very much the way a good swim benefits your external muscles—wakes them up, takes out the laziness, stimulates them to action. TAM helps restore regularity to the bowel movements.

With proper elimination restored through the help of TAM, one of the great causes of subnormal health is corrected. Such symptoms as gas pressure on the stomach, acid-indigestion, nervousness, bloated stomach, belching, heartburn, heaviness, sleepless nights, coated tongue, bad breath, dull eyes, biliousness, and lack of pep frequently go quickly and you feel like a new person when TAM comes to the aid of your body.

TAM contains no artificial laxative drugs or chemicals whatsoever. People of all ages use TAM with safety—it is gentle and reliable. Made like finest grade jam, with LEAVES AND FRUITS from the Holy Land, the West Indies and other countries. Try TAM at once. Full pound jar, $1. Trial size, 49c.

If Your Ankles Swell You Can't Feel Well

Do your ankles swell, or are you tired and worn out a lot of the time with dark circles under your eyes? If so, the cause may be functional rather than organic or systemic Kidney trouble. The Kidneys work night and day cleaning and filtering excess acids, poisons and wastes from your blood. Because they never get a real rest it's easy to see that as you grow older the Kidneys may get tired functionally and slow down. Then, excess acids and wastes may accumulate and poison your system. So if your ankles swell or you have to get up nights or suffer burning, scanty or frequent passages, backache or nervousness, due to non-organic or non-systemic Kidney or Bladder troubles, you'll make no mistake in trying the prescription called Cystex. Because it has been so successful in so high a percentage of cases, Cystex is sold under a positive guarantee of money back on return of empty package unless completely satisfactory to you. Cystex now costs only 35c at druggists and the guarantee protects you.

GALA REVUE IS FEATURED AT ESSEX HOTEL

Mansion Inn Is Now Open for the Season

By SAM BERENSON

The old Hi-de-ho master, Cab Calloway, continues to swing on at Southland . . . Here's a breezy show, sparked by the Cab himself . . . and the combination of the Calloway personality and his hot-cha rhythm crew—high-lighted by "Chu" Berry's reed blowing—is sufficient reason to drop all else and make this a date for the week.

A high-powered floor show is the week's lure at Kitty Brando's where "name" personalities and varied entertainment add up to one of the Rialto's better take-ins . . Helen Brooks does a smoothy job with the song "I'll Wear My Heart on Your Sleeve" . . . She and a lad named Melvin Hyser wrote the tune . . . Joe Candulo's toe-tempting rhythm . . . Steuben's Vienna room remains one of the more popular spots for the dine and dance goers of New England . . . The Ritz roof opening scheduled for next week with Ruby Newman as the attraction . . . Izzy Ort's new El Tropico room atop the grille stages its formal opening on Wednesday evening . . . Izzy has created one of the town's most beautiful supper rooms.

Staying on at the Latin Quarter is that Gay Continental Revue "Follies Des Femmes"—Boomps-a-Daisy, Can-Can, and all . . . this spicy attraction packs no end of the flavor of Paris, and is undoubtedly one of the most beguiling shows that have come to this delightful spot all season . . a slickly-balanced revue and the Tony Bruno music . . . We're hearing excellent reports about town on the swell brand of music-making served up by Herb Marsh at Jack Brown's Casa Manana . . . and a further recommendation for the Casa is the lovely Miss Miami, a feature here . . . Bob Gardner's opening very successful . . due credit should be given to the new press-agent team of Mickey Meyers and Marguerite Downey . . . the new Beachcomber under direction of Tom Maren primed to open this week, with Miss Juanita Rios as an attraction.

Cocoanut Grove's maestro Mickey Alpert in collaboration with Bernardo Fazioli has written a very good song. And this is a most surprising thing when one considers the amazing ineptitude which maestros reveal in creating themselves the rhythms which so deftly arise from their bands.

Others, say a Cole Porter or an Irving Berlin, may diddle about at the piano for a fortnight—and the world dances to "Night and Day" and "Blue Skies" . . . when Hoagy Carmichael has crushed

JACK FIELDS
At Westminster

sufficient cigarettes into his ashtray, the likes of "Stardust" is delicately etched in the album of American music . . . but let the average batonswisher lay a grace-note to paper, and the only positive reaction comes from far-off churchyards where Bach and Lizst stir restlessly in their graves. So it is entirely newsworthy that Mickey and Bernie appear to have cracked a tradition; and in "I Forgive You" to have conjured up a rondelay which may well carry them into that limelight which they have so long sought

Crosse and Dunn getting a brisk hand of applause at the smart Mayfair Club . . . Ranny Weeks' slick melody-making backgrounds another splendid show this week wherein is featured sparkle, color, and beauty galore . . . The drop-in-your-nickel music boxes are keeping the Philadelphia mint working overtime . . . eighteen million five cent pieces went out last month, a new high . . . The delightful atmosphere at the Eddie Davis Fox and Hounds Club is spelling a remarkable success for this popular rendavous.

The fast-paced Blinstrub's Village, featuring as it does dynamic floor revues with no lull from start to finish, ranks in our book as among the gayest of all night spots . . . Biggie Blinstrub has not let down his patrons this week for the current show is one of the most torrid ever . . . Out in North Easton the ever popular Cappy's reports a brisk up-swing in trade . . . this refreshing out-of-town spot has merited a top-flight ranking . . . Ribby's, the Allston station plaisance, is another nightery receiving a worthwhile slice of the Rialto business.

The Lawrence Hofbrau, avers Joe Wagenbach, inaugurates this week a fortnight of the most colorful action that this Lawrence spot has offered all season . . . and so we're recommending it as a banner take-in . . . The gay Crawford House still headlines the dynamic Sally Keith . . . tassle-tossing Sally has shattered records in both popularity and attendance . . . Joe Rubin's dancing school continues on as one of the standout academies of its kind . . . Ruby Foo's life history being prepared for a national mag.

Publicity seeker, Sam Golden, capable press relations agent of the Hotel Essex, would have it known that if anything warmer weather will find an upswing in the Grill Room's entertainment policy . . . which should mean that the Essex will indeed have standout floor offerings, for the merry making here has been consistently top-notch . . . A mighty nice take-in is the Wrentham Showboat . . . a "different" atmosphere that is proving very popular among the stay-up clique.

The Revere Frolic is hitting a new high, thanks in no small measure to the grand music-making of the Louis Prima crew . . . The Hampton Beach Casino is attracting dance lovers . . . this spot is one of the most delightful in New England . . . The Hotel Westminster's Blue Roob spotlighting the Jimmy McHale Band and a starry list of floor entertainers well merits a date on your week's calling pad . . . One of the best of the out-of-town take-ins is Jack Eastman's at Nantasket.

Mansion Inn, located few miles from Norumbega Park, open for the season . . . a lovely spot . . . Doc Harris and Frank Maloney re-open the Club Crescent on upper Tremont st. . . . Harris is the former bowling champ and Maloney captained the Boston College football team in '32 . . . the lads at Williams College will be doing things up brown for their house parties . . . Bobby Byrne, Will Bradley, Newt Perry and Erskine Hawkins will all be there . . . It seems unlikely that the Hub will see any new nite-spots opening this fall . . . Billy Payne, Muriel Sherman and Martha Burke well liked by the Grove patrons . . . Jack Brown, Jr., not taking his usual European vacation this year . . . Lou Wallers making smart plans for guests at the popular Silver Beach this season . . . Larry Thornton has nice offer . . . Old Fashioned Cafe's new show features many of Boston's club favorites . . . The Lotus presenting entertainment . . . Athena Pappas and Madeline Marchetti looked very charming at the Southland party the other night. Blanche Percy, Grove dancer, was among the most thrilled at the Circus . . . the first one she has seen in 15 years.

Mind Own Business, Fr. Coughlin Tells U. S.

DETROIT, May 6 (AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin reiterated a plea that the United States "mind its own business" and remain out of the European war.

"It is perilous to find our people lending their minds and their attention to the affairs of Europe while they neglect the more pertinent affairs of their own land," he said in his regular Sunday broadcast.

The Royal Oak, Mich., priest asserted the problems of unemployment, national debt, the "growth of class conflict" and the "widespread want in the midst of plenty" was testimony "we have not been eminently successful in minding our own business."

"Unfortunately we are overly interested in this contest for power which has encompassed Europe," Fr. Coughlin said. "While we proclaim our neutrality, we are busied shipping airplanes and war materials abroad."

He declared that social reform in the United States is impossible "unless it is preceded by financial reform."

"As I see it, political liberty without economic liberty is a mockery," Fr. Coughlin said. "And economic liberty without financial liberty is an idle dream."

MOTHERS IN PEACE RALLY

Invitations have been sent to all patriotic organizations of Greater Boston to visit the headquarters of the American Mothers' Neutrality League at the Parker House this week to co-operate in plans for the "Peace Meeting" next Sunday Mother's Day, on Boston Common at 2:30 p. m.

The headquarters will be open tomorrow, Thursday and Friday evenings to receive representatives of these organizations and to allow members of any groups to sign the petitions of the league demanding that the United States be kept out of the European war.

These petitions will be circulated also next Sunday at the meeting, where Cong. Hamilton Fish will be the principal speaker.

Cooperation of veteran and other groups has already been assured for the meeting and a color guard from the South End Post, American Legion, and an escort of 25, under Past Commander Joseph M. Heffernan, will attend.

A group of young women, cooperating with the Mothers' League will aid in securing signatures to the petitions against war both at the League headquarters during the three nights of this week and at the meeting next Sunday. The protests later will be forwarded to Congressmen in Washington.

The league has a membership of 18,000 in the state and is receiving the cooperation of several other groups, which have many other thousands of members.

Girl Basketball Champ Shows 'Em How and How!

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 6 (AP)—A slender young woman sauntered into a basketball concession of a carnival currently showing in Little Rock.

It was one of those affairs where prizes are awarded free to throwers. One out of three wins a small prize, two out of three a large prize and three out of three an ornament in the house.

The young woman paid her dimes to the concessionnaire and nonchalantly tossed three for three into the baskets. The concessionnaire, evidently taken aback, invited her to try it again. She did, nine times more, making 30 out of 30. She won everything but the tent.

Some one later tipped off the confused concessionnaire that the tosser was Hazel Walker, national Kals' free throw champion and member of the national champion Little Rock Flyers Girls' basketball team.

BOYOBOY, A CIRCUS!

Candid Camera Gets Some Thrills at Garden

REPRESENTATIVE HAMILTON FISH, Republican of New York, has introduced a joint resolution in Congress which would require an approving vote of the American people before citizens or alien residents of the United States could be drafted for military service in foreign wars.

Specifically, the resolution provides that in the event Congress declares war, or finds any national emergency to exist from which a foreign war, might result, the following question must be submitted to the people for decision:

"Shall citizens of the United States and aliens therein be drafted for military service outside of the Western Hemisphere or the territorial possessions of the United States?"

The mandate thus produced would thereafter govern, with the effect that our people either would or would not be subject to compulsory service in American armed forces abroad, according to how the people themselves had decided.

REPRESENTATIVE HAMILTON FISH
Would Let American People Decide Whether or Not They Want to Fight in Foreign Wars

Why is not that an entirely proper requirement?

Why, indeed, is it not an essential and necessary requirement?

Why should the American people be any less popularly and democratically controlled and governed for war purposes than for peace purposes?

Should not the youthful Americans who would fight in our foreign wars FIRST have the opportunity to ponder the necessity for fighting, and to say whether or NOT they want to fight?

Should not the families and dependents, the loved ones and friends of these young Americans have some say in the matter?

The Fish Resolution would not prohibit or even prevent war. It would not interfere with the Constitutional right and power of Congress to declare war.

But it would, and of a certainty SHOULD, reserve to the American people the final right of DECISION about compulsory fighting in foreign wars.

THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS have always believed, and now firmly believe, that the great majority of the American people are opposed to involvement in foreign war.

It is inconceivable, but of course possible, that American public opinion may favor going "all out" into the present or some other foreign conflict.

In that event, under the Fish Resolution, they would authorize unrestricted conscription and be on their way.

But on the other hand, thinking differently, they would stay peacefully at home, by their own free decision.

Is not that the important thing, the democratic thing, the AMERICAN thing—to consult and abide by the wishes of the people?

Mr. Fish's resolution should be approved speedily and nearly unanimously by Congress.

It would certainly be approved speedily and nearly unanimously if the American people and not Congress were to vote upon it.

CURTAILED TRAIN SERVICE to Hyde Park by the New Haven Railroad imposes a needless hardship on thousands.

For years it has been possible for persons living in that popular residential area to reach down-town Boston in 16 or 17 minutes. By automobile, bus or street car the time is much longer. This important fact should be seriously considered.

The New Haven can do much to promote the future development of Hyde Park, already one of Boston's most rapidly growing sections. It should not fail.

The Gods at Play

THE gods last night put on a carnival . . . A lavish feast before them had been spread . . . The lamps illumining the banquet hall . . . a golden glow upon the revelers shed.

We could not see them at their revels high . . . nor hear the wild and bacchanalian beat . . . on marble floors of dancing girls' bare feet . . . But we could see reflected in the sky . . . the flash of ruby-studded anklets rare . . . the brilliance of the diamond-braided hair . . . the pink palms, fingers gemmed with pearls . . . and ivory arms of pagan dancing girls.

Repeated on the canopy overhead . . . were the wine goblets' royal gold and red.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- -:- MY DAY

WASHINGTON, May 6 — More and more women are attending the National Institute of Government conference.

Mrs. Dorothy McAllister, vice-chairman of the women's division of the National Democratic Committee, expected to have a few hundred women but they came by thousands, just as the young people came to the Citizenship Institute in February.

THOUGH SOME cynics may think they came because of an invitation to the White House or for entertainment, I would like to pay tribute to Miss Molly Dewson, Mrs. Dorothy McAllister, Mrs. May Evans and the staff of the women's division of the Democratic National Committee, who have painstakingly developed the educational program for the Democratic women which has finally really created an informed group eager for closer contact with their government's officials.

Many of the women have little money and came at great personal sacrifice, for they are interested in the program which is being developed and want to know how they can make it more effective.

This meeting has been one of the most heartening things to men and women alike in the Democratic party.

There has always been the old type of politician who believes that good politics is getting and giving jobs and has nothing whatever to do with the education and real beliefs of the people.

This meeting must convince some of the old-timers that there is some change in the world of politics, just as there is in the world of economics.

Today there are women who want to think about and understand the policies and principles of their party, as well as to profit from the patronage grab-bag, or from any social recognition which politics may bring.

I spent a little while with the young Democratic women on Friday afternoon, and was impressed by their alertness and desire really to express themselves.

IT IS FORTUNATE that we have a great many people in this country and that they have a great many interests. Every other day, it seems to me, I receive a notice about some new kind of week which is to be celebrated!

Today I hear that May 5th to 11th is to be National Music Week. While they have no general program, the sponsors are asking all kinds of groups interested in music to feature American music.

It does not mean that we should not love all kinds of music, for music belongs to the world no matter where it comes from, but it does mean that we should develop the talent we have in our own country, which can only be done if we, ourselves, appreciate it and develop it for the world.

WHEN WILL the Nazi air force bomb London? The answer may be in Der Totale Krieg (The Totalitarian War) by General Erich von Ludendorff. This work, Hitler's military textbook which he has so far faithfully followed, says: "When by defeats at the front or by the efforts of malcontents in the country the unity of the people is impaired, the time then arrives when bombing squadrons must inexorably and without pity be sent against the enemy population."

MANY FEMALES referred to as "titian blondes" are not rightly so called. Titian's "La Bella" reveals the exact color a woman's hair should be for her to be rated a "titian blonde." Titian was 86 years old when he portrayed this beautiful blonde. Imagine being interested in blondes at 86. Maybe it was just a memory.

THE AMOUNTS of the cash settlements some divorcees receive after being married only three years or less is astonishing. No wonder so many women are trying so hard to hook a man of wealth of any age. Some of these matrimonial chiselers have the amount of settlement and alimony they are going to ask for figured out before they even marry the man. If a woman has lived with a man for years and helped him build his fortune, she deserves an equal share of it. But why should a woman who has given only a few years of her life, and very CITIES should have their own automobile license plates so citizens could use the same to exploit their town while traveling. On said plates should be some appropriate insignia. On Boston plates for instance, a codfish; on Baltimore, an oriole; on Philadelphia, a Liberty Bell; Wheeling, W. Va., a stogie; Pittsburgh, Pa., a picture of Hans Wagner; Los Angeles, an angel; Toledo, O., a mud-hen; Atlantic City, a piece of salt-water taffy, and so on.

"CERTAINLY are a wild bunch of kids these days," I said as a "hopped-up" automobile packed with high school kids whizzed around a corner on two wheels. My companion, a pal of prep school days, said: "Remember the time the fellows at school took possession of a trolley car and 'Shorty' Light appointed himself motorman and drove the car at 50 miles an hour over crossings and everything?" I took the hint and ceased to comment on the wildness of current youth.

"I covered Prague and Vienna and now Helsinki," was the line. "We're like rats in reverse—running to a ship that's sinking."

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: Twenty years ago tonight a world's championship changed owners in Boston . . . It is too late by the clock to set Jack Conway's bedside telephone a-jingling, and the chore of thumbing a record book for a tiresome half hour is too stiff a task with which to inaugurate a return to work after two weeks of dawdling on vacation . . . So, without benefit of either authority, Conway or the record-book—and the two aren't far from synonymous—it is our impression that the passing of that world's title was the only event of its kind having taken place in Boston . . . Nor have the intervening twenty years, we believe, included a like happening . . . (But if we're wrong, please don't write.)

MAY 6, 1920 WAS THE DATE of the battle between Johnny Wilson and Champion Mike O'Dowd for the middleweight crown . . . It took place in Mechanics Building . . . Wilson was the short-ender, naturally, and the "price," or odds, was 5 or 6 to 1 . . . Local interest was very high, as we recall . . . Although the swart, stolid Wilson hailed from New York originally, he was an adopted Bostonian and working under the local management of popular Marty Killilea—who later sold his contract for a reputed price of $40,000—of Charlestown . . . O'Dowd had a loyal Irish-American following in Boston, and Contender Wilson, whose real name smacks more of sunny Sicily than the nordic nom de sport he used then and uses now, was not without adherents . . . Actually, he was the crowd's favorite in the twelve-round go to a decision.

JOHNNY FLOORED O'DOWD in an early round the second or third—and the Champion took a fairly long count . . . But the ultimate margin of victory was not too wide, and the derisive taunt of a "Boston decision" came into national use at about the time of that fight . . . (Wilson later "made it stick" by licking O'Dowd in a fifteen-round decision bout in old Madison Square Garden in New York) . . . Well, there was a hot time in the old town twenty years ago tonight . . . Vaguely, we remember that . . . We recall, also, a meeting with the new Champ . . . I think Johnny said: "Ugh!" and in this way the meeting closely paralleled a later one with the renowned Squire Jack Sharkey

SHARKEY AND YOUR CORRESPONDENT were introduced the time he was in New York for the Jim Maloney fight—in 1925, wasn't it? . . . Jack Conway was the man between—the introducer—in that historic meeting . . . And it happened in a crowded room in the Hotel Astor . . . Strangely enough, both Mr. Sharkey and your envoy hit upon the identical moment for leave-taking . . . Down in the elevator and out into Broadway we journeyed together, the jovial Squire and I . . . South on Broadway we traveled together—from the main entrance of the Astor midway between 43rd and 44th Streets on Broadway to the southwest corner of Seventh Avenue's junction with 42nd Street . . . There's a subway kiosk there . . . The Squire spied it . . . "So long!" said he, and he was gone.

I GUESS IT TAKES YEARS TO get acquainted with Champions of the boxing game . . . It was many years, for a fact, before this fan of Former Middleweight

COLMAN IS SIGNED FOR FIVE FILMS

By Louella O. Parsons

Ronald Colman

HOLLYWOOD, May 6—Ronald Colman is the most recent top actor to show his faith in independents by signing to make five pictures for United Producers Corporation, a new movie company just organized. Ronnie was undoubtedly motivated in his decision by the fact that his agent, William B. Hawks, is president and executive producer of this new setup which plans to make ten pictures. Bill Hawks, a brother of Howard Hawks, well known director, and a graduate of Yale University, was a broker before he joined the army of Hollywood movie agents.

The deal for the Hawks picture was made with George K. Schaefer, head of RKO, who will release all ten of the Hawks movies—or shall we say United Producers Corporation's output?

TONY MARTIN, who sang his way into the hearts of millions, has a date with MGM in July. He goes to New York first to fulfill an engagement at the Versailles and comes back here to play the male lead in "Feeling Like a Million," the next Eleanor Powell "Broadway Melody." Judy Garland will have the other top femme role furnishing some of the type of songs which have made her so well liked. Probably she and Tony will sing a duet

OUR OLD FRIEND Charles Boyer and Anatole Litvak have an interesting movie idea up their sleeves. They want to remake "Ariane," the picture in which Elizabeth Bergner scored such a success. In fact they not only want to star Charles in it—but are talking a United Artists release. Litvak's contract with Warner Brothers gives him the right to make one outside picture and the reason he hasn't availed himself of the privilege is that his home studio has kept him so busy

TWO-MINUTE STORY

IT HAPPENED behind the lines. A doughboy shuffled into the neatly arranged canteen and asked for coffee—at the same time noticing the clean, neatly attired attendant busily engaged arranging can-goods on the shelves.

"Pretty soft for some people," he exclaimed. "Some people have all the luck, an easy job, a clean bed to sleep in and an officer's uniform to wear—no less.

"Look at me, practically in rags—soaked to the skin in mud—wallowing in it for weeks right up to the ears. Nothing like having a lot o' pull, Bud, what kind of a drag have you got to have to get a job like this?"

BY THIS TIME he had worked himself into a frenzy, and he raved on.

"Tomorrow I go back—back into those dirty trenches, while you nobly carry on way back here where no one can take a shot at you any minute. When it's all over you'll go back a hero, get all the glory, while suckers like us go out there and do all the dirty work.

"Yeh, you'll go back—a big strong guy, and you won't be ashamed to take all the credit for the work we've done. You're that type. As for me, I go back tomorrow and probably never will see good old Chi again—the kids and the Mrs. Think of it, Bud, ain't you ashamed o' yourself? I may never SEE Chi again!"

THE ATTENDANT turned. Without so much as a quiver, he set the coffee down in front of the doughboy and his big blue eyes looked up and out into space as he said:

"Too bad—never'll see Chi again—the kids and the Mrs. You see, Bud, I'm blind—got it when the thing started a year ago. I'm just hangin' on way back here and still tryin' to do my bit, servin' coffee and doughnuts to bring a little happiness to lugs like you. I'll never see Chi again—and the Mrs. and the kids."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I KNOW a man who spent seven months in one of Mr. Hitler's concentration camps. He was an important man in Germany—a gentle soul who loved music and art and the kindly ways of life. He had an old-fashioned home filled with loveliness and peace. One rare old painting by Van Dyke. A few good rugs. A fragile wife and little daughter whom he adored

But he had committed one great and unforgivable crime, this man. He had been born a Jew. True, his so-called Jewish fathers had been Germans for generations. They had given their intelligence and industry, year after year, to the land they loved. They were in spirit infinitely more German than the Austrian neurotic and his gang of hoodlums who came to persecute them. Yet, genealogically they were Hebrews.

SO ONE NIGHT as this gentle man sat with his family in peace and happiness, Hitler's soldiers came. With their knives they slashed the rare old rugs. With one hammer stroke they wrecked the Van Dyke masterpiece. With their foulness they left a taint on sensitive souls which life can never erase.

So my friend, the Jew, went to a concentration camp and lived for seven months in incredible horror. Today he is in America. He escaped with what was left of his life, his family—and two dollars. For the crime of being a Jew, Hitler seized his home, confiscated his automobile, his business and his fortune.

I say he escaped. But my friend has not escaped that concentration camp. He will be in it always. The mask of its lash is on his slender body, which trembles at any unexpected sound

---

IT IS NO LONGER enough to be proud of Americanism or grateful for it.

If you are to enjoy it, you must start to defend it today with every thought and word and deed. For the vision which founded America is in terrible peril at present.

Things have happened abroad which endanger all civilization, which menace every decent and humane ideal.

Actor Horton's 'Ma' Thinks He Should Get Steady Job

Wilbur Farce Opens Tonight

By PEGGY DOYLE

Edward Everett Horton, who opens at the Wilbur tonight in the Benn W. Levy farce, "Springtime for Henry," following a rarely successful road tour, was last here with Louis Mann in "The Cheaters" at the old Hollis St. Theater.

He's been in more pictures than you could shake a stick at and his grand sense of comedy has done more to save so-so pictures than galaxies of Hollywood's most high-priced stars.

"But Ma," he will tell you frankly, "thinks I should look around for other work. She thinks acting is a very insecure kind of work. Whenever she sees me in a new picture, she meets me at the front door, shaking her head dolorously, and urges me to look around for a steady job because, she says, 'you're not a very good actor.' She also thinks I'm getting too old to be galavanting around the stage like a glamour-boy."

Horton's "Ma," who is only a lively 81, has been popping up all over the country to meet him at out-of-the-way places where the Laurence Rivers production has taken him.

She plans to be in Boston during the two-week engagement and, since she is an inveterate sightseer, it is probable that Mrs. Virginia McCarthy, wife of the company's popular publicity representative, will be her guide on a tour about Boston and surrounding historic spots.

The redoubtable Mrs. Horton doubtless will be putting in some time on her Eastern visit at Lake George, where she and her son, Edward, maintain a home "cluttered with horsehair furniture, antimacassars and the rest of her wedding presents."

"My brother," the screen comedian explained, "loathes the stuff but Ma and I love it. We really do."

Horton, looking much too young and fit to have made his first picture, "Too Much Business," for the old Vitagraph studio back in 1919, revealed these family secrets at a cocktail party for the press yesterday at the Ritz-Carlton.

He remembered that his second picture was "Front Page Story," in which he was cast as a city editor. That was in 1920. He doesn't recall whether movie reporters of those days were telling their city editors where to get off at but he does remember that the leading lady was beautiful, the director a swell guy and starting time 10 a. m. Things you remember long after you've forgotten what the picture did at the box-office.

Horton's two attractive leading ladies, Marjorie Lord and Sally McMorrow, were also guests at the press party.

Miss Lord will be remembered for her excellent performance here in the Helen Mencken-starring "Old Maid."

Miss McMorrow, a Boston girl making her first local appearance before the footlights, was educated at Sacred Heart Academy, the Chamberlain School and has countless friends here who will be happy if the Horton play becomes the Hub hit its past performances indicate.

SCARLETT KELLY
Globe's Headliner

Scarlett Kelly Hit at Globe

Burlesque's titian-haired Scarlett, whose last name is Kelly, has proven to be the Globe's most sensational attraction of the season.

Probably her favorite dance with local audiences is the new and daring "Buck-a-Teese-o." This is but one of a group of startling dance creations Boston is seeing for the first time.

Another dance importation that is delighting Globe audiences this week is Grayce Brun, appearing in Boston for the first time and fresh from a six month engagement at New York's popular rendezvous, Jimmy Kelly's.

Introducing dances from all over the world are Eleanor Sheridan, Stella Mills and Betty Johnson.

And, of course, there are the inevitable and indispensable 30 Bernardoids.

More than half of the show is comedy contributed by the Three Ryans and Floyd Halley, aided by Monk Kirkland, Harry Ryan and Billy Fields.

The screen program features Mickey Rooney in "Slave Ship" and "Nancy Steele Is Missing."

Pierson to Direct

Arthur Pierson, who directed the Hasty Pudding show this year, will succeed Jock Munro as director for the Marblehead Players this summer. Has played leads at Elitch's Gardens, was in pictures for two years and has appeared in man, George Abbott productions.

Lane-Dee Team Tops at Howard

"Speed and Sparkle" is the title of the Old Howard's new and handsome burlesque revue. It also is a precise description of the company's twin stars, Mary Lane and Edna Dee.

Mary Lane

Miss Lane is one of burlesque's most devastating ladies, packing plenty of talent and pulchritude in her slim person. Equally popular is the gifted and personable Miss Dee.

Surrounding these scintillating stars is a capable cast including Billy "Cheese 'n' Crackers" Hagan, who leads the comedy division made up of Frank X. Silk and many other well-known comics.

Heading the parade of lovelies are Bunny Mitchell, Aloha, Jeryl Dean, Dot Darling, Isobel Brown and many others including the chorus of 30 song-and-dance cuties.

The Old Howard's three shows daily start at 12m., 2:30 and 8:30 p. m. There is a midnight show every Friday, beginning at 11:30 p. m.

French Revue At Gayety

The Gayety's new revue, "French Follies," promises spice, speed and comedy galore.

Louise Stewart

Its leading lady, Louise Stewart, is billed as "the last word in loveliness." Sharing the spotlight with her will be a host of charmers, including Allibazi, Petite Patty, Mimi Lynn, the O'Dell Sisters and the 30 fetching models of the chorus.

Tommy Raft heads the laugh-promoting department, which also boasts Pinky Lee, Jimmie Pinto, Marvin Harmon, Al Golden, Jack Shaw, Stan Simmons and Foster and Lee.

The screen attractions are "Why This War?" and "Money to Burn."

The three daily shows at the Gayety start at 12 noon, 3:15 and 8:30 p. m.

OBERON-BRENT-O'BRIEN HIT COMES TO MET ON THURSDAY

Sterling Cast In Love Drama

Top feature on the new program opening Thursday on the Metropolitan Theater screen is the new Warner Brothers drama, "'Til We Meet Again," starring Merle Oberon, George Brent and Pat O'Brien.

The associate film will be "Tear Gas Squad," exciting melodrama with Dennis Morgan, Gloria Dickson and John Payne.

Directed by Edmund Goulding, whose brilliant directing helped made "The Old Maid" and "Dark Victory" memorable, "'Til We Meet Again" is a subtly "different" love story.

The setting for the story is a luxurious liner travelling from Hong Kong to San Francisco. There is said to be plenty of action, drama, romance, and comedy. Oberon and Brent carry the romantic interest as the pair of star-crossed lovers who know when the trip is over they will never meet again.

A brilliant supporting cast includes Geraldine Fitzgerald, who recently appeared in "Wuthering Heights" with Miss Oberon, Binnie Barnes, Frank McHugh, Eric Blore, Regis Toomey, and Henry O'Neill. The screen play was written by Warren Duff from an original story by Robert Lord.

"Tear Gas Squad" deals with New York's gang-busting law-enforcing, police divisions, presenting the human interest, behind the scenes stories of the lives of the men who fight crime with tear gas. Terry Morse directed for Warner Brothers.

MERLE OBERON and George Brent in a shipboard romance between a girl who knows that she has but a few months to live and a man who is being brought back to San Quentin to pay the death penalty. The picture is Warners' "'Til We Meet Again," opening Thursday on the Metropolitan screen.

OPENING TONIGHT

WILBUR—"SPRINGTIME FOR HENRY," with Hollywood's favorite comedian, Edward Everett Horton, in the title role of the Benn W. Levy farce. With the star in this Laurence Rivers production are Gordon Richards, Marjorie Lord, Barbara Brown and Sally McMorrow.

SYMPHONY HALL — TED SHAWN DANCERS are making their final appearance here tonight and tomorrow night. Feature of tonight's program will be "Dance of the Ages"; tomorrow night's "The Dome," in which Shawn uses the old Greek technique.

OPENING WEDNESDAY NIGHT

SYMPHONY HALL—THE POP CONCERTS open their 55th season here with Arthur Fiedler presiding as the Pops conductor over full-sized orchestra of Symphony players for the 11th consecutive season.

CONTINUING

SHUBERT—"KEEP OFF THE GRASS," musical comedy starring Jimmy Durante, Ray Bolger, Ilka Chase and Jane Froman, continues at its hit pace. Jimmy McHugh and Al Dubin are responsible for the excellent score. The skits are by Mort Lewis, S. J. Kaufman, Panama and Frank, Parke Levy and Alan Lipscott.

Hollywood Paragraphs

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, May 6 — You may not recognize "The Fimbezzler" under the new name but it is "Money and the Woman"—the movie which caused Priscilla Lane's suspension.

Brenda Marshall no less gets Priscilla's job because the feud between the little Lane girl and her bosses is at fever heat and may not be patched up for awhile.

Jeffrey Lynn will be starred opposite Brenda and this will be his first appearance as a star.

In "All This and Heaven, Too" young Lynn plays Henry Field. Bette Davis' husband and Jane Warner tells me he is excellent.

Learn Fine Points of Etiquette

BE SURE OF CORRECT MANNERS WHEN DINING

"Oh, dear, which chair shall I take?"

The girl whose home life is simple needs to check up on such etiquette questions before she steps into the swank world, where service is taken for granted. If she doesn't, how crude she appears!

When a girl dines at a restaurant with a man, it's customary for her to take the chair the waiter pulls out—and her escort stands until she's seated. But if she wishes, she may state her preference for another chair, let the waiter pull it out for her.

Often, knowing the more gross errors will give you a false sense of security. But it's not enough to know it's wrong to chew with your mouth open, leave your teaspoon in your cup, break crackers into your soup.

To be accepted by charming people, learn the fine points.

Our 40 page booklet, Etiquette for Every Day, has correct answers to all your etiquette problems. Tells when to rise for introductions, how to answer invitations. Gives etiquette for movies and dates, for dancing, dining, visiting, entertaining, motoring, traveling.

Send 15c in coins for our booklet, Etiquette for Every Day, to Boston Evening American, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Try Raisin Caramel Pie

By MARTHA LEE

RAISIN WEEK—May 5 to 11 inclusive—is the occasion of the thirty-second celebration of this first of all food weeks. If raisins were quadrupled in cost, this favored source of quick food-energy might be more appreciated from that single viewpoint.

But even with raisins in the economy class of food's their popularity increases yearly. Raisin Week this year finds us armed with a greater-than-ever-before variety recipes from which to choose—unlimited puddings and ice box cakes, appetizing hot breads, cookies, cakes, tortes and pies.

How about a raisin pie among this year's celebration recipes? Did you know that according to Bowes and Church, of nutritional research fame, the basic minerals which predominate in raisins permit the fruit to occupy the "Believe It Or Not" status of a pie with an alkaline end reaction?

If husband or family must forego the acidity of pies in general, give them raisin pies and add to their menu satisfaction. Try the following recipe for Raisin Caramel Pie for an appreciation of these values and an attractive representative of flavorful fruit pie

RAISIN CARAMEL PIE

2 cups raisins
1 cup granulated sugar
2 cups water
¼ cup butter
2 tbsp. cornstarch
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. vinegar
1 tsp. cinnamon

Pastry for bottom crust (9-inch deep type) and strip top

Rinse and drain raisins. Combine ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup water and butter in a saucepan. Cook without stirring until mixture is a golden brown in color. Blend remaining ½ cup sugar, 2 cups water, raisins, cornstarch, salt, vinegar and spice. Stir into hot mixture and cook and stir until browned sugar is dissolved and mixture has thickened. Pour into pastry-lined pie pan and cover top with strips of pastry. Bake in a hot oven (450 deg. F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Serve warm. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

RAISIN GINGERBREAD

2 cups sifted flour
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. baking soda
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. ginger
¼ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. cloves
½ cup sugar
½ cup chopped raisins
1½ tsp. vinegar
½ cup evaporated milk
⅝ cup molasses
2 eggs
½ cup shortening

Mix and sift dry ingredients; stir in raisins. Add vinegar to evaporated milk; when roused, add molasses and stir into dry ingredients. Beat in thoroughly one egg at a time, then the softened shortening; turn into greased square pan and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 40 to 50 minutes. Makes 1 (9-inch) square cake.

You Can Be Beautiful

Herbal Liquid Smooths Out Eye Lines

By ARLINE GOULD

WHEN NEXT you are bound for an evening that should be carefree and even . . . who knows . . . potentially a turning point in your life . . . and you have tired lines around your eyes, imprints of fatigue, whip out a bottle of fragrant, herbal liquid . . . because it was devised solely for that use . . . to smooth and firm relaxed tissues around the eyes!

Indeed it's part of a famous youth-reviving treatment in which certain aids have been used in the Mayo clinic . . . we refer to some special soothing and relaxing packs, made of herbs and flower petals.

If you're in earnest about renewing the fresh look around your eyes, you'll get the complete treatment kit, which doesn't cost a great deal more than the famous herbal eye astringent we're describing right now! And which also includes a marvelous rich eye cream that practically disappears into the skin as you lightly touch it on . . . as well as the herbal packs.

You should use the herbal eye astringent, made especially for use on the fragile eye tissues and nowhere else, before going out, morning or evening.

First, apply a thin film of eye cream, then take a strip of cotton long enough to cover both eyes . . . moisten it with the herbal astringent . . . and place it over your closed eyes for five or ten minutes . . . and you'll immediately see an improvement in the wrinkled tissues. All trace of eye cream should be gone, and if you like the glamour of glimmering eyelids, touch the merest bit of the rich cream to the upper lid. The eye astringent is but $1.50.

If you'd like to learn all about this remarkable herbal astringent, intended to improve the skin around the eyes, or the kit which includes it and companion rejuvenating aids to use around the eyes, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days until 5:30, except Saturday, or write, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LAUGH . . . with the unrestrained gaiety that Greer Garson shows . . . for this can be a joyous springtime . . . but just be sure that your smiles aren't marred by a worn look around the eyes . . . and if that is exactly your beauty problem, you'll want to know all about the unique herbal liquid, created especially to improve the appearance of eye tissues . . . Arline Gould tells of it today.

Love And Marriage Indicates He's Poor Risk

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

A friend of mine who is having some difficulty with her love affair is the subject of this letter. She goes with a man three nights a week secretly. He has been practically engaged to another girl for nine years, has given her an engagement ring and household effects.

He is considerably older than my girl friend, has been divorced, and deserted his wife and baby, and constantly brags about his affairs with other girls. In spite of all this, he's asked my chum to marry him, though he still goes with his older girl to whom he is apparently engaged.

My friend's mother is greatly worried over her daughter's love affair and says she must choose between her and this man.

C. A. M.

Any girl who considers marrying a man such as you describe must be a glutton for trouble. Decent men don't desert wives with young babies, nor do they sneak out secretly with other girls when apparently they have been pledged to someone else for a number of years. This gentleman strikes me as belonging to the Cazenova school, members of which are poor risks matrimonially speaking.

Try to get her interested in someone else.

Full Skirted Beach Robes

By ANNICE BRINK

DON'T BE surprised to see what looks like an Arab tribe encamping on the beach sands this summer . . . it will be fashion-conscious feminine beach lizards in the hooded and often full-trousered lounge affairs.

There are so many full-skirted beach robes, tied around the middle with drawstrings . . . and beach pajamas with harem trouser legs, that the Arabian air is inevitable. It's sophisticated, and when the clothes are white, and you're deeply tanned . . . that ought to be something!

On the other hand, what looks from a distance to be a supervised group from the nursery playing patta-cake on the sands will turn out to be still another school of beach fashions . . . this time the pinafore, or McGuffey gang.

Shorts sets in striped cotton look entirely different this season because instead of the regular button-on skirt, the top is apt to be a pinafore with a big skirt, a wide, tuck waist girdle, and it ties in back.

Quite the most intriguing of the new pinafores have flared ruffles over the shoulders, a touch Alice in Wonderland, and very good-looking in a giddy polka dot print.

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Monday, May 6

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You of this birthday are well balanced, courageous and probably very obstinate at times! Faithful and generous. If living true to your inborn good qualities, you are cheerful, well-mannered. The possessor of intense magnetism. A diplomatic career may be your strong forte. A cool, calm head will direct you through many tempestuous variations. Plan carefully and don't promise lightly. A slow-but-surer method best. Don't jump at conclusions

LUCKY NUMBER — Today's lucky number is 92.

LUCKY COLOR—Today's lucky color is dandelion.

New Debs Reign

By BETTY ALDEN

FOR THE PAST couple of years Boston's glamour gals have been blondes . . . but the redheads may upset the dope in the new race for glamour, oomph, plus or what-have-you among the 1940-41 debutantes . . .

The new debs made their first official appearance as brand new social butterflies at the Empire Junior Dance at the Hotel Vendome Saturday evening . . . Judging by the rush they received from the stag line, titian haired Lucy Twitchell and Barbara Higginson each have a pretty good chance of giving their blonde and brunette sister debs keen competition . . .

Lucy, daughter of Mrs. Augustus Lowell Putnam, wore a vivid printed chintz gown in shades of blue and rose . . . while tall, stately Barbara, chose a fragile black lace to enhance her lovely tresses . . . She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Higginson who will present her at a luncheon in June and a dance at the Ritz-Carlton later in the season . . .

New Debs Are Attractive

THE NEW DEBS are certainly an attractive and lively group . . . Among the pretty brunettes is Rosita Richmond, who was escorted by James C. Dudley . . . A tiny, vivacious person with sparkling eyes and dark brown hair worn in a long bob, she wore a purple taffeta dress printed with small white figures, and a corsage of white carnations . . . She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Richmond of Needham . . .

Sally Lawrence, granddaughter of Bishop Lawrence, is another pretty brunette, and has an aristocratic New England ancestry to give her top ranking in any social group . . . Barsha Powers and Yvettes Laneres, who boast the most unusual names in the group, are both lively brunettes and Peggy Crocker, tall and handsome, looks like a twin of her older sister Priscilla, one of last winter's most popular debs . . .

Harvardians who will form the stag line at parties of the coming season had the problem of trying to learn the names and faces of all the new debs and kept the ushers busy introducing them . . . Posey Kent came on from her dinner party at the Junior League on the arm of Richard Comey . . . She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Rich Kent and scheduled to have one of the season's most novel debuts, an old-fashioned square dance . . .

Emily Garritt, wearing a soft turquoise blue gown with a very pretty and unusual beige and white maribou jacket, came on from the dinner party at Brae Burn at which she shared honors with Mary Favorite, Marjorie Ober and Cynthia Vose . . . Mary O'Day wore a long turquoise faille wrap; Polly Curtis, tall and blonde, and cunning Libby Pattee, with white lilacs in her blonde hair and a flame chiffon gown with pleated skirt, were other darlings of the stag line . . .

Likely to Be Tennis Star of New Debs

DOROTHY WIGHTMAN, daughter of Mrs. George Wightman, donor of the famous tennis cup, will undoubtedly be the tennis star of the new group of debs . . . Her emerald taffeta gown with one shoulder strap of fresh gardenias was a distinct contrast to the white pique tennis togs we are accustomed to seeing her wear on the courts at Longwood or Essex . . .

Miriam Davis, home from Ogontz School for the week-end, looked like a page out of an old-fashioned picture book, with her lovely blonde hair set off by a full skirted flame chiffon gown and a string of flame carnations over one shoulder . . . She attended in a party with Meredith Wagner and Pam Whitney . . . Meredith wore a billowy pale pink tulle gown with a corsage of roses and Pam's gray blue tulle had a blue and silver jacket . . .

Others enjoying the thrill of their first party as debutantes were Mary Killiam, Priscilla Nash, Frances Whitney, who resembles her sister Mary, one of last winter's debs; pretty Nancy Wyeth in a black crepe gown with bodice of apple green; Betty Maynard, Mary Emerson, Alice Plummer, Nancy Scott of Wellesley, in a striking white dress with black lace edging the full ruffled skirt and long black gloves; Elise Pickhardt in a cunning violet suspender dress; Mary Remick, Julie C. Falvey, Julia Deane, Lee Burnett, and Ernesta Rueter, one of the best and most enthusiastic waltzers among the younger set . . . Some of the stags included Cooper Ellis, Richard Simonds, Herbert S. Tuckerman, who escorted Jean Roberts; Louis Cabot, Robert St. George, Alvah Morrison and Allen Wait . . .

"CHECKING IN" at the Empire Junior dance Saturday evening are Mary Coolidge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gardner Coolidge, 2d, of Brookline, and her escort, Richard Simonds. Patroness Mrs. Harold C. Willis, whose husband recently sailed for France to join the American Ambulance Corps, watches the proceedings from the doorway of the ballroom.

ELEANOR C. MORSE TO WED ON MAY 25

Mr. and Mrs. Carleton L. Morse of Newton Center gave a dinner party Saturday evening to announce the engagement of the former's sister, Eleanor C. Morse of Milton, to Albert A. Atell of Milton.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of the late Mrs. Etta E. Morse of Milton.

The couple will be married May 25 in the Unitarian Church, Milton.

POST DEBS ON TRIP

Olivia Ames and Elizabeth Motley, post debs of Chestnut Hill and Boston, arrived at the St. Regis Hotel in New York over the week-end. Mrs. Roswell Parish, of Clarendon st., is a guest at the same hotel.

Bridal

Dorchester Girl To Wed

On Wednesday morning, May 15, Mary Elizabeth O'Connell, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Leonard E. J. O'Connell, of Dorchester, will become the bride of William John Ceppi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ceppi, also of Dorchester. The marriage will be solemnized at a 9 o'clock Nuptial Mass in St. Peter's Church, Dorchester.

The bride will be attended by her sister, Katherine as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Mary C. Gaquin and Mrs. Geraldine Harris, with Frances Jane O'Connell as flower girl. Edward X. Ratliff will serve as best man and ushers are to be Paul A. Trudel, John L. Monahan, Thomas J. Ryan and Eugene F. McAuliffe, Jr.

Miss O'Connell is a member of the Progressive Club.

Mr. Ceppi is an honor graduate of Boston College High School and Massachusetts Normal School.

After a bridal tour the couple will make their residence in Jamestown, Rhode Island, New York.

Plan Carney Night at Pops

Carney Hospital Night at the Pops is slated for Sunday evening, May 19, in Symphony Hall for the benefit of the charity fund. Mrs. William J. MacDonald of Newton Center and Mr. Roy J. Heffernan are co-chairmen.

Mrs. Paul T. Kendall and Mrs. John J. Todd are directing the ticket sale and patrons. Also working for the success of the party are Mrs. John J. Buckley, Mrs. Morris Milan, Mrs. George Cleary, Mrs. Charles Forrest and Mrs. Edward Rickham.

Thumbs Down

By Walter Hartman

THE office was a bright oasis of light in the gloom of the corridor beneath the theater balcony, and Palco followed the usher toward it at a discreetly watchful distance. His eyes went from the straight, uniformed back a few paces ahead to the watch on his wrist. Then he grinned tightly to himself.

Right on time he told himself smugly. Two minutes past ten. And the box office in the lobby closed at the night at ten sharp.

The usher ahead carried a small canvas bag with the last of the night's receipts. The collection was made at that time every night. The usher took the bag to the manager's office and from there another usher would take it to the bank for the night deposit. Palco grinned again to himself. Tonight it would be different. Tonight there would be no night deposit.

He fumbled elaborately with a cigarette while the usher disappeared inside the office and then sauntered forward when the uniformed figure emerged. The usher stood aside respectfully, hugging the wall of the narrow passage, to let Palco pass. That was funny, Palco chuckled to himself; these chumps were practically rolling out a red plush carpet for him.

Before the open office door he paused for a hasty glance up and down the carpeted darkness. He was alone and the only sound to reach that spot was the distant mumble of the feature picture in its last showing for the night.

Palco took a deep breath and moved forward purposefully.

The manager looked up as he entered, then dropped his eyes swiftly to the bulge where Palco held the gun in his right-hand pocket.

Palco said softly, "Keep your hands where they are, on top of the desk."

"A STICK UP?"

The manager's eyes flickered to the money surrounding the half pile of tickets in front of him and then returned to Palco.

He said, "Is this a stick up?" Palco nodded easily. The other clasped his hands on the desk and took a deep breath. It made the starched bosom of his dress shirt crackle a little. He exhaled slowly and said, "You can't get away with it. You'll never get out of the theater."

Palco lifted an eyebrow and said, "I think I can. I've eased this joint for a week. I know the usher just brought in the last of the receipts. I know the box office is closed for the night. And I know that in just 10 minutes, after you finish tallyin' up, another usher'll be in to pick up the dough and take it to the bank. Only tonight it's goin' to be different.

"When the monkey comes in, you're goin' to tell him you're takin' it to the bank yourself. Then you're going to walk out with me. You'll have a dummy bag that looks like the one you carry the money in, but the dough'll be right in my pocket. There's an alley next to the theater. You're goin' to stay in there while I grab a cab and beat it. And you'll still be holdin' the bag."

Palco pulled heavily on his cigaret as he concluded. The manager licked his lips and asked, fighting to keep his voice steady, "And suppose I don't?"

Palco shrugged and the words came out in short stabs of blue smoke when he answered, "That won't break my heart. I got a long memory. I ain't forgot the time you was an usher here." His face darkened as he added, "You socked me once. I ain't forgot that, either."

The ghost of a smile flitted across the manager's face. He said, "I think I remember it, too. We get our share of trouble-makers, but we know how to take care of them."

"CALL ME JOE"

"Well, this is one time you don't—not the way you'd like to." Palco flung at him. "And now shut up. It's about time for the guy to pick up the receipts. When he comes in, tell him you ain't finished yet, that you're going to take it to the bank yourself. Anything you say to me is goin' to sound like we're pals. Understand? Maybe, if you behave yourself, you'll be able to walk out of that alley after I leave."

The manager nodded. He kept his hands clasped before him on the desk. Palco, without taking his eyes from the other, moved a chair to a position close to the manager, but just out of reach.

His right hand hidden by his left hand from the view of anyone entering, the manager covered the distance when he dragged the chair toward him.

"Now you—up that pencil and quit talkin' to me," he said. "Get me no, like we're pals." And keep both hands on top of the desk."

The manager nodded again and mumbled ably. He broke off when the usher entered. He was a tall, thin youngster with alert blue eyes. He wore his uniform trousers, with the jacket of a dark suit and above them. He halted respectfully a few paces from the desk.

"Don't bother about the deposit tonight, Patten. I'll take it over myself."

The manager put down the pencil and said, "Don't bother about the deposit tonight, Patten. I'll take it over myself, later, after I finish my report."

The boy's eyes went from the manager's face to the hands still clasped on the desk. Palco flicked the ash off his cigarette without releasing his watch on either of them. At last, the boy took a long breath and said, his face wooden, "Very good, Mr. Carroll. Good night, sir."

"Good night, Patten."

Patten executed a brisk about-face and left. Palco allowed himself a tight grin.

He stepped to the desk and stuffed the money into his pocket with his left hand. "Now," he said, "put that roll of tickets and those papers into the bank sack. So it bulges. And remember what I said.

"I will," said Carroll. He rose slowly from his seat, empty, when he felt the hard unyielding muzzle of a revolver here into his back, for, of course, Carroll knew all about that. "Hit 'em! High!"

There was a feeling of unreality though, the sight of his own pen being removed from the desk and moving straight over to rest on the open face permitting easy access to the cash.

His eyes [illegible] to Patten [illegible] with a look of [illegible]

Good work, Patten," Carroll said quietly. "Keep [illegible] my sight.

Boston After Dark

—By GEORGE HOLLAND—

Champion Wilson could be convinced that the sullen southpaw was possessed of a tongue that worked . . . Suddenly he wasn't sullen at all . . . Through the Sizzling Twenties, when Wilson was part owner of the fabulous Silver Slipper, most successful of the Broadway nightclubs, and through the early Threadbare Thirties, Johnny and yours truly met frequently and always found nothing to say . . . Then we got to know the guy.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TONIGHT Wilson left-pawed the Champion of the middleweight division into submission with the fury and enthusiasm of a yes-man saying no to Darryl Zanuck . . . He held his title for three and a half years of listless tilting with any and all comers his manager appointed to a seat in the opposite corner . . . For years and years the Wilson behavior in street-clothes impressed this unimpressed observer as being the absent-minded stroll through life of an ex-champ who, even at his work, was never a frenzied performer motivated by much ambition . . . Then, as we mentioned, we got to know him . . . For a week, he's been obsessed with the notion that he has discovered an entertainer of big league caliber in the person of a dusky drummer, singer, and master of ceremonies named Eddie Bryan . . . Mr. Bryan and a band will transform Mr. Wilson's Swanee Grill, in the Boston Harlem, into a cabaret beginning as of tonight . . . The former Champion insists that Mr. Bryan is wonderful . . . But that's just a token of a state of mind . . . If hard work, sociability and downright enthusiasm for the job of running a restaurant guaranteed success, Johnny Wilson's Swanee Grille would be a mint like Dinty Moore's

PERSONAL LOANS

HOW YOU CAN BORROW $100 IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $6.41 A MONTH

Do you want to get a cash loan quickly and simply? At Household Finance you can borrow $20 to $300 without endorsers or guarantors, if you can make regular monthly payments. And you needn't even leave your own home to apply for the money you need. You may repay your loan on the installment plan which best fits your own purse.

Choose your own payment plan

Suppose you need $100 and can conveniently repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. (Loans also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Note that you may make very small payments if you wish. Note also that the sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.58 each, or a total of only $106.32, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. (Payments shown in the table include all charges.)

300	155.65	79.75	54.46	41.84	34.28	29.25	22.98	19.24

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month. This rate is less than the maximum permitted by the Small Loan Law.

Cronin's Sabbath Razz: Wherefore of the Boo

A DELICATE PROBLEM IN CROWD ETHICS occurred as Cleveland bounced our Red Sox off the league summit before a Sabbath house of 32,500.

AUSTEN LAKE

Joe Cronin, who is as earnest and industrious a gent as baseball boasts, had the ill luck to butterfinger a couple of pop flies—one a foul that glanced off his glove near the left field wall and another a fair ball that he yoo-hooed for and then, too late, conceded to Ted Williams. So, an instant later, when Keltner slapped a home run into the left field fishnets and scored three runs, a portion of the patrons rared back and let go a Booooo!—not just an itsy-bitsy Boo! but a rich, ripe, resonant boo that floated over the outfield whiskey signs and scared the pigeons on the downtown Common. The fans decided that anybody's grandma with her hoopskirts and corkscrew curls could have caught that in a handbag, so they reproached Cronin for foozling up the action.

It was apparent that Cronin, as the Dean of the Sox and the man supposed to set a good example, felt very bad as he came in with his chin on his chest. So another portion of the crowd gave him a nice sweetheart cheer on the premise that this was just a ball game and, Pshaw!, what are a couple of fumbled flies in the midst of the world's chaos and human misery?

So, throughout the afternoon the two opposite schools roared competitive moos and hossanahs, not so much at Cronin, as an expression of mutual defiance. Each side seemed to be trying to teach the other a lesson in Free speech vs. Good manners.

Even today this pillar is receiving letters from the two factions, one calling down maledictions on Cronin's curls and the other deploring the hooters as a hoodlum smirch on this city's sporting name.

Part of Baseball's Charm

NO DAMAGE IS DONE! FOR CRONIN is just the kind of a competitive cuss not to care a hoot about being hooted. He knows that the same larynxes that utter the curdled cacophony are ones that scream glory shouts a moment later. He knows, too, that when a fan buys his colored coupon and takes a seat in the stands, he also buys the right to yell according to his emotional makeup and his capacity for English. It's part of baseball's charm.

I insist that it is the privilege of every fan to applaud when the play is good and hoot when it is punk. It goes with the game of government as well as baseball. It's the democratic right of anyone to say what he thinks and to disagree with his neighbor without restraint or penalty.

Booing is an American institution. They whistle abroad. But the U. S. Boo often springs from small boy mischief, while the European whistle is usually vindicative. Babe Ruth used to be booed generously at the peak of his career and Mr. Baseball always turned during the midst of the grand hazoo and doffed his cap with mock grandiloquence. The Babe understood that the most vociferous cackler in the crowd

Feller Win Eased By Superb Control

By BILL GRIMES

While he was knocking the Red Sox out of first place at Fenway Park, with a seven-hit, 6-1 victory, Bob Feller, Cleveland's fire ball hurler, pitched exactly 117 balls for an average of 3.44 per batter.

Possibly Feller wasn't as fast as he had been on other occasions but, what is more important, he had almost perfect control of his curve ball.

Furthermore, the day was dark, which made the young Indian even more effective. No less than eight Red Sox batters went down via the strike out route, and only one, Lou Finney, worked Feller for a walk.

DICKMAN UP TODAY

Emerson Dickman was to be on the points for the Red Sox this afternoon, opposing Willis Hudlin. On his last time out, Dickman was flattened by the Chicago White Sox but he's still rated as the best hurler on the Red Sox roster.

Mickey Harris tasted his first major league defeat yesterday.

In fairness to the pride of Queen's Village, L. I., it should be said that he has been under the weather with a heavy chest cold, also suffering from a sprained ankle since he beat the Athletics in Philadelphia. In fact he was so far below par that he lasted but three innings, during which he was nicked for seven hits and three runs.

After Manager Joe Cronin had decided it was time for Mickey to yell "Uncle," Herb Hash took over and gave a very fine account of himself.

Ostermueller was on the hilltop

What the Stars Did

By the Associated Press

TAFT WRIGHT, White Sox—Took advantage of mental lapse of Outfielder Dee Miles to score from first base on single in 6-5 victory over Athletics.

BOB FELLER, Indians—Held slugging Red Sox to seven hits and fanned eight in 6-1 victory.

BUCKY WALTERS, Reds—Chalked up fourth straight triumph with seven-hit burling against Giants.

NICK STRINCEVICH and DICK COFFMAN, Bees — Combined in four-hit pitching performance to beat Pirates 5-1.

ART MAHAN, Phillies — Hit double and two singles to lead attack against Cubs.

RUDY YORK and EARL AVERILL, Tigers — Each made three hits as Detroit downed Yankees 6-4.

Stengel Smiling Again After B's Great Surge

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 6—Doing much better than anticipated, the Bees enter their fifth game on their present western junket here against the Pirates today with two victories and the same number of losses to their credit.

Heading into Chicago for the first game of their present trip, the Bees had won only one game and were floundering badly. To make the situation appear worse, the Bees threw a five run lead away to drop the only game they played in the Windy City.

Right after that exhibition, the Stengel charges settled down. They split in St. Louis, and yesterday they took the opening game from the Pirates.

SCARSELLA HITS HARD

The victory against the Bucs was particularly sweet to Manager Stengel for several reasons. First and foremost was the batting of Les Scarsella, who connected with two triples and a single to knock in three of the Bees' five runs.

Next in importance was the great pitching turned in by Dick Coffman, who relieved the faltering Nick Strincevich in the sixth with two men on base, count of two balls on Elbie Fletcher and nobody out.

Strincevich looked great during the early frames but showed he was tiring in the fifth when a walk and two singles with two men gone loaded the sacks. Al Lopez saved the situation by catching Handley off second base.

The Bees' rookie then opened the sixth by walking the first two batters, and that was enough for him. Nick lasted long enough to get credit but it was a moral victory for Coffman.

Casey's boys stepped out to a first inning when Hassett and Cuccinello singled and Ross walked, filling the bases. Scarsella hit to Fletcher and when the ball took a bad hop, Hassett scored. Further damage was prevented when Cuccinello overran third and was nipped.

Pittsburgh tied it up in the second when Elbie Fletcher hit a homer over the right field screen for the Bucs' only run of the day. The Bees went ahead by scoring a cheap run in the third. Hassett reached on an error, went to second on a wild pitch and came galloping home on a West single.

A pair of triples by Ross and Scarsella together with an error fashioned two more Boston runs in the sixth, and a second Scarsella triple in the eighth counted West with the final run of the game.

Dick Errickson goes after the Bees' second triumph over the Pirates today while Mgr. Frankie Frisch counters with Joe Bowman.

BIM PREAKNESS CHOICE DESPITE UPSET

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—Although the legend of Bimelech's invincibility was punctured by his defeat in the Kentucky Derby, the handsome colt from Idle Hour farm almost certainly will be the favorite again in next Saturday's running of the Preakness at Pimlico. It will require more than one licking, in other words, to convince most of the horse players that Bimelech is not the best of an unimpressive lot of three-year-olds.

Not that the underrated Gallahadion didn't take Bim's measure fairly and squarely in the Derby and run right past him in the stretch, but just that the Bradley colt still is the solid choice on his record of eight firsts and one second.

Bimelech is not, of course, the super-horse he had been made out. Gallahadion's winning time of 2:05—more than three seconds off the Churchill Downs track record for the mile and one-quarter—made it all too obvious that there were no equine immortals in Saturday's gathering.

Still Bimelech proved himself a real good horse by the fact that he was able to move into the lead as they entered the stretch, and his supporters always will feel he could have done with a little better riding in the final furlong, when Gallahadion went streaking past on the rail.

Freddie Smith let the favorite bear far out on the track and probably lost close to the length and one-half by which Gallahadion led him at the wire.

It looked as though Smith was more occupied in trying to hold off Dit than he was in repelling Gallahadion's charge, though this probably didn't make much difference, because the winner clearly was stronger and faster than Bim in the last 50 yards.

Carroll Bierman gave Gallahadion a beautiful ride. All the way around he kept him up close to the leaders, rating his mount carefully and saving him for the big effort.

When Bimelech swerved out and left the rail clear, Bierman shot into the opening so quickly as to surprise the great crowd.

It was obvious in that instant that Gallahadion had the race won. Bimelech, tiring badly in the last sixteenth, likely would have lost the place to Dit if they had gone another 10 yards.

Probably the second biggest disappointment of the race was Mioland. The Coast horse had been heavily backed both in the winter books and in the mutuels, but he never gave his supporters a hope and was forced to make up ground in finishing fourth.

Saturday night around the Louisville hotel lobbies it was next to impossible to locate any of the lucky few who had cashed in on Gallahadion.

He was about the one horse that hadn't been bandied around as a "hot tip," as was obvious by his near-record payoff of $72.20 on each $2 mutuel ticket.

when the Indians went to bat in the sixth and, although he went for four hits, pitched scoreless ball, as did Charlies Wagner in the ninth.

KELTNER HITS HARD

The Indians reached Harris, Hash, Ostermueller and Wagner for 13 hits for a total of 21 bases. Ken Keltner was the outstanding hitter with a single, double and a homer, but Feller connected with a single and a three bagger, while Lou Boudreau and Ben Chapman came up with singles and two baggers.

Of the seven hits made off Bob Feller, Teddy Williams, Lou Finney and Jim Tabor accounted for six. The odd one, the only extra base knock made by the Red Sox, rattled off "Doc" Cramer's bat.

Although the Indians reached him for two hits in the first inning, Harris managed to weather that round without being scored on. But he wasn't so fortunate in the next stanza. Keltner opened with a drive against the left field wall for two bases, and raced home when Rollie Hemsley slapped a single to center. Then, Mickie passed Roy Mack and Rollicking Rollie tallied when Lou Boudreau looped a hit into right. Mickie did get a break, however, when Weatherly hit into a double play.

With one down in the Cleveland half of the 3d, Bell drew a walk, and Jeff Heath singled to left. Then Keltner stepped up and parked one in the screen for a three run circuit drive.

In the meantime, after walking Finney, the first man to face him in the opening inning, Feller had retired nine Red Sox batters in order. But, after Feller's triple and Boudreau's long fly to Finney had pushed across the sixth Cleveland tally, Cramer started the last of the 4th with a two bagger to left center and galloped home when Ted Williams smashed a long single to right.

The Red Sox had two on with two down in the 8th but Bob Feller threw three by Jimmy Foxx to retire the side.

Dodger Daffydills Burning Up League

NEW YORK, May 6 (INS) — Word was out today that the major league managers have issued orders to their scouts to comb the minors for screwballs—screwballs of the Brooklyn variety.

Yesterday the daffiness boys from Brooklyn won their ten'th game in 11 starts by scuttling the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 6, in a game that set a new major league record for players used in one game. A total of 39 players—22 Dodgers and 17 Cardinals—participated in the contest to break the old mark of 37, first set in 1928 by the Cards and Phillies and equaled in 1937 by the Cards and the Cubs.

Brooklyn scored four runs in the ninth to come from behind and win.

WALTERS DOWNS GIANTS

The Cincinnati Reds, behind the masterful hurling of Bucky Walters, downed the New York Giants, 3 to 2, to stay within striking distance of the league-leading Dodgers. The victory was Walters' fourth in as many starts. The Giants, however, handed the Reds the game by committing two costly bobbles in the seventh when Cincinnati pushed over the tying and winning runs.

Elsewhere in the National League, Boston trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 1, and the Philadelphia Phillies supplised the Chicago Cubs with a 7 to 5 triumph. For the Pirates, it was the fifth straight defeat.

FELLER SUPREME

In the American League, Cleveland tightened its grip on first place by routing the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 1, with Bobby Feller allowing seven scattered safeties and striking out six Sox batsmen. The loss was Mickey Harris' first in three appearances.

Lacking in hitting, the Yanks continued to break themselves up by dropping a 6 to 4 engagement to the Detroit Tigers, and the Chicago White Sox nosed out the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5, in a see-saw struggle during which the lead changed hands four times. A four-run rally in the eighth gave the St. Louis Browns a 7 to 3 win over the Senators.

Sox $10,000 Pickup Keeps $75,000 Dom Mourning on Bench

Dom DiMaggio, the Red Sox $75,000 beauty and prospective rookie of the year, is riding the bench these days gloomily watching Boston's "ugly duckling" keep him among the unemployed, according to the Associated Press.

And Lou Finney, just one of those handy guys a ball club likes to have around—is really doing him hurt, folding that Red Sox sun patrol like twins and pasting the ball at a robust .333 clip as of today.

Dom cost the Sox a reputed $75,000 last winter and they picked up Lou from the Athletics a year ago for something like $10,000. Lou's purchase was strictly an insurance proposition for he could handle either first base or the outfield capably.

ANKLE ANCHORS DOM

But Dom can blame his own tender ankle for his unwelcome idleness. That and the red-hot pace of a fighting ball player who has been hitting on all cylinders ever since Joe Cronin gave him the green light after the brilliant Sox rookie aggravated an ankle injury.

Dom had played fuor games with indications of great promise but the fierce play of his substitute Finney makes it look as though the younger DiMaggio will need dynamite at least to crash into the Sox lineup.

Lou stepped into action last April 23 celebrating by blasting a home run out of the park. Since then he's been stopped but once in 11 games. Chicago's John Rigney tied a horse collar on him one day last week but every other pitcher he faced has been belted impartially by the Alabama boy.

Even Bob Feller, who toyed with the Sox sluggers yesterday, letting them down with seven hits, couldn't cool off the red-hot Finney. Lou nicked him for a pair of singles.

SCORES EIGHT RUNS

In 34 times at bat, he hammered out 14 hits, including a home run, a triple and three doubles. He scored eight runs and knocked in four on his own hook, which is pretty god going for a leadoff man.

Settle on Date For Conn Fight

NEW YORK, May 6—Billy Conn and Gus Leanevich met in Mike Jacobs' office to set a new date for their Detroit bout. It will be held during the first week in June, at either Briggs or Olympia Stadium. Joe Vella, Leanevich's manager, will visit Jacobs tomorrow to set the exact date and the scene.

WILSON PICKS 5, DOUBLE!

Birdcage Net Profit Is $187.90

It is open for argument as to Dave Wilson being an ornithologist, but it is a positive fact that he is the man who made the Bird Cage famous. For the Sunday Advertiser-Boston American handicapping ace rewarded his followers Saturday with a goldmine of profits.

In his Bird Cage, which appears exclusively in the Green Race Special of the Evening American and may be obtained only from the booklet Dave Wilson's Winners, on sale at all leading newstands, Dave handed out a Bird Cage which clicked to the tune of $130.25 PROFIT!

The horses were Fairy Chant, $7.80, $4.20, $3.50, Guy Fawkes, $4.80, $4.50, $3.60 and Liberty Flight, $5.50, $3.50 and $2.80.

Just to keep it a good day all around, Dave rattled off a daily double worth $39.60, and three other winners at Narragansett Park. So followers of Wilson, on a Bird Cage play and a flat $2 bet, would have picked up a fast $191.95!

DAVE WILSON

The bankroll of the Bird Cage was originally $100. In the short space of time Dave has been spotting horses in his booklet the roll has soared to $287.90, showing a winning of $187.90 clear.

And the king of handicappers is the leading man for the greatest racing newspaper in the world, The GREEN RACE SPECIAL. They work as a team, Wilson releasing day by day information in code in the Race Special which may only be had by obtaining a copy of Dave Wilson's Winners.

THE GREEN RACE SPECIAL edition of the Evening American is the only newspaper that provides its race followers with revised post positions, jockeys and scratches. And as an added service to local bettors they provide revised prices even after the scratches are announced.

No wonder New England race followers are solidly behind this innovation to the turf game—where in four green pages can be found anything pertaining to "King Thoroughbred" within a few seconds.

So Win With Wilson in the New Green Race Special of the Evening American.

By JACK CONWAY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6—As one of the charter members in the "Beat Bimelech Club," I confess I didn't even have a stray $2 bill on Gallahadion when Carrol Bierman brought Mrs. Mars' three-year-old home a winner at the handsome price of $72.40 in the Kentucky Derby. I touted everybody in Kentucky who would listen to me that Bimelech couldn't win the $75,000 horse race, but I missed when it came to naming Gallahadion to finish first.

As the prices flashed on the board at Churchill Downs while 80,000 persons drank mint juleps and what not, I walked up to a selling booth and bought $2 win tickets on Dit, Mioland and Pictor.

Dit finished third, Mioland fourth and Pictor last. And they don't pay off on horses that end up in those positions if you have win tickets in your duke.

One party in a box at the finish line showered me with cheers after the race as I had touted them off Bimelech, and a young lady who picks winners by stabbing a race program had named the Number One horse. Incidentally, four out of the last five Derby winners have come roaring out of the No. 1 box.

After the race, I dropped down to the barns where Gallahadion was cooling off. I expected that this would be the most jubilant spot on the race track. I was a bit surprised to find that nobody was doing any cheering.

"Didn't I tell you Bimelech would get licked?" asked one stable boy of another.

"Sure," replied the boy, "but you didn't tell me we would be the one to lick the Bradley horse."

Roy Waldron, who trained Gallahadion, and Carrol Bierman, who was up on the Mars thoroughbred, were frank in admitting to me they were surprised when Gallahadion won.

"Like about everybody else," said Bierman, "I thought Bimelech was unbeatable. I figured we would be doing all right if we finished second."

Waldron told me he had instructed Bierman to keep Gallahadion on the rail so as to save as much distance as possible.

"I told Bierman," went on Waldron, "to pick his spot and try to get through if he could. When Bimelech and Dit ran wide at the head of the stretch, Bierman took Gallahadion along the rail, picked up a couple of lengths and came on to win. I thought Bierman gave Gallahadion a million dollar ride."

Blamed for Bimelech's Defeat

IN LOUISVILLE, Jockey Freddy Smith is being blamed for the defeat of Bimelech. Following the start, the Bradley horse was jammed between horses as he raced past the grandstand, and was obliged to take back. Bimelech had made up his ground by the time he reached the clubhouse turn. With a good ride, Bimelech might have taken the lead in the back stretch, and left the field talking to itself. Instead Bimelech got pocketed, and couldn't get clear until he reached the head of the stretch, Gallahadion then came breezing along the rail and moved into the lead.

Bimelech didn't have any run left at this point of the race, and was lucky to win second place over Dit. Bimelech looked like an ordinary horse in the race through the stretch, while Gallahadion ran like a champion.

Don Meade

I think Bimelech as well as Freddy Smith should be blamed for the defeat of the Bradley horse. If Don Meade had been up on Bimelech I think the Bradley color bearer would have won.

I say this even though I told everybody who would listen to me that Bimelech was doomed to defeat. I made my mistake when I failed to purchase win tickets on all horses in the race other than Bimelech.

I didn't go far enough when I let the family jewels ride on Dit, Mioland and Pictor. I should have included the four other contenders, and then Gallahadion would have been carrying $2 of my money when he won at such a long price.

I never did bet on odds on favorites. I find they seldom win. In a major stake race, you usually find the entire field trying to knock off the favorite. Bimelech wasn't any exception in the Derby. Every owner, trainer and jockey in the race was trying to defeat Bimelech and they succeeded.

Man O'War Still Only Wonder Horse

THE RACE proved that Man O' War is still the only wonder horse. Bimelech was a great two-year-old, but has yet to prove he is the best of the three-year-olds. The big horse may redeem himself in the Preakness on Saturday, but as he stands today he is only another three-year-old.

Bimelech tired badly when put under pressure in the race through the stretch. Instead of lifting his head high in the air and accepting the challenge of Gallahadion and Dit, Bimelech called for his slippers and a bag of oats. He didn't prove he has what it takes to make a champion.

This is why I motored to Samuel Riddle's farm at Lexington on Sunday and talked things over with the 23-year-old Man O' War. Bill Hubbard moved Man O' War over to the rail where I was standing. Man O' War seemed to chuckle as he looked over at the next stall where War Admiral was taking his oats.

Bill Hubbard mentioned that Man O' War had sired 278 thoroughbreds, and that 186 of them had come in as winners. Bill remarked that Man O' War was up for breakfast each morning at 4 a. m., and that the great horse worked out five miles at seven o'clock.

"I am sorry Bimelech lost," said Bill, "but, of course those folks who thought Bim was a better horse than Man O' War were just naturally crazy."

Man O' War looked me right in the eye, and he didn't make any denial of Bill's statement.

TRI-CITY BOUTS AT ARENA

National sectional and state champions will battle for tricity honors tonight at the Boston Arena when the Irish-American A. A. sponsors the final big-time amateur boxing show of the 1939-40 season.

The card will be made up of the leading simon-pure leather tossers from Buffalo, Philadelphia and Boston, and in addition there will be one open class for heavyweights and a division for novices at 160 pounds.

The tri-city competition will be held in the 126, 135, 147 and 160 pounds and heavyweight division for a total of 15 special contests.

The Buffalo outfit is a real classy one, headed by national welterweight champion Henry Brimm, who won the crown at the Garden last month, and Charlie "Cyclone" Williams, the giant Negro heavyweight, who "stole" the spotlight from the other 172 competitors in this year's National Championships.

The 126-pound biffers will open the evening's program with Joe Doucette, Lynn, and Vincent Doyle, Roxbury, the Mass. State bantam titleholder, representing Boston against Art Foster, Buffalo, and William Allen, Philadelphia. The lightweight division will show Al Dutra, Cambridge, 1939 New England champion, and Al Freda of Milford wearing the silks of the Hub delegation against "Irish" Jimmy Winters, sensational Bisen lightweight, and Patrick Lane of Philadelphia.

GALLAHADION'S DAY IN OLD KAINTUCK

RECORD GATHERING—Part of huge gathering of 90,000 which swarmed over Churchill Downs infield and grandstand at Kentucky Derby, Louisville, Saturday. Crowd came from all over U. S. and was said to be the largest in history of famous Blue Grass classic. They got more than their money's worth, too, because they saw Bimelech defeated by Gallahadion in greatest upset in turf history.

Armstrong Spots Zanelli 10 Pounds In Title Bout Here

Henry Armstrong, welterweight champion of the world and one of the greatest fighting machines of all time, will risk his title again at the Boston Garden on Friday night, May 24, this time thumping it out with Ripper Ralph Zanelli, Providence, in a contest listed for 15 rounds.

The clinching of the championship fight, second in Boston in the space of a month, was announced by Rip Valenti, Goodwin A. C. matchmaker, who got Armstrong to agree to meet Zanelli after several long-distance phone calls on the Sabbath.

Valenti revealed that Armstrong and his pilot, Eddie Mead, who had been objecting to Zanelli because the Ripper will have close to a 10-pound advantage in weight, finally consented when the financial arrangements were altered.

Armstrong, guaranteed a flat $15,000 with a 45 per cent privilege for battling Paul Junior here April 26, will get 47½ per cent this time. Zanelli has agreed to take 12½ per cent. Junior got 15 per cent.

Another clause in the contract, which will be officially signed, sealed and delivered tomorrow, is that Zanelli will give Armstrong the first shot at the welterweight crown in the event Zanelli should upset the Brown Blitzkrieger.

Dinner for Sox At Chamber Tomorrow

The Boston Chamber of Commerce, which tossed a dinner to the Bees a week ago Saturday and then saw them win their first game the following day, will do the same thing for the Red Sox tomorrow night at the Chamber of Commerce Building.

All the Sox will be seated at the head table where the invited fans can see them at a close glance.

A full house is assured, Sec. Charlie Coyle announced today.

MORGANS WIN TITLE

TIVERTON, R. I., May 6 (INS)—The Morgans soccer team of Pittsburgh today took the National Amateur Cup back to the Smoky City after scoring a 1-0 victory over the Fall River Firestones in the final of the United States amateur championship series.

The Crowd Chastens Those They Respect

THE NIGHT THAT JOE LOUIS ENTERED the ring for his second seance with Max Schmeling, the crowd greeted him with a medley of zoo and barnyard sounds that rocked the stadium. Even Louis, familiar with such noises, looked startled. A surly, puckered expression curdled his face as the crowd gave Schmeling a unified Huzzah.

It acted as a powerful stimulant, for when he came off his stool Louis moved like a predatory animal, on the balls of his feet, his cat-like eyes eager for the kill. He rushed in almost recklessly, swinging his russet bludgeons and rocking Schmeling into a standup stupor. He was competitively angry.

Almost every outstanding sport figure, including Eddie Shore, Bill Terry, Dizzy Dean, Jack Dempsey, Ty Cobb, Joe DiMaggio, Jimmy Foxx, has taken his share of sour blurts. Nothing roused Cobb to such a burning pitch as a concerted crowd whinney or heckling from the opposing bench. For, indeed, ball players are more scathing in their cross-haggling from the dugouts than the fan would dare to be, yet a "jockey" in baseball is more often than not popular with his rival fellows.

Until the time he fought Angel Firpo, Jack Dempsey was buttered over with some skin-blistering sounds. Gene Tunney's ears were burned too and after him Jack Sharkey and Max Baer. But Jim Braddock was received more mercifully, because the crowd knew, with an odd sixth sense, that he was well over his physical horizon and only had a little left to give. He couldn't be booed to greater action.

For singularly the worst mannered crowd won't razz an archaic elder, or a man in his athletic gloaming. So it was with Dizzy Dean as I sat with him last year on the bench at Bee's Field when the announcing horns bawled that he would pitch the afternoon game. Instead of the customary acrid roar and the verbal persimmon that were usually mingled with scattering cheers and a thin applause, there was virtual silence.

Dean sat there with his lower lip drooped in a gigantic pout, his eyes fogged with the preoccupation of a man who might be tabulating his income tax. Then he picked up his glove and walked to the pitching pits. For he realized the crowd felt sorry and sympathetic. He missed his Boos. The silence hurt more!

Ailing Owner Had Heavy Bet On Gallahadion

CHICAGO, May 6 (AP)—It didn't take long for Mrs. Ethel V. Mars and her Milky Way Stables to get the Kentucky Derby range.

To win the Blue Grass classic has been the chief goal of the wealthy Chicago sportswoman since she bought a string of horses and began racing in 1934.

Mrs. Mars made her first bid for the most coveted turf honor in the country in 1935 with Whiskolo, a likely looking horse which finished third. She never did better than that in the years between, but she was always on hand to "pull" for her entries.

ALWAYS LIKED HORSE

But she couldn't attend Saturday when her Gallahadion surprised and stunned the turf world by popping across the line first by a length and a half.

Mrs. Mars heard the race by radio propped up in bed where she is recovering from a severe cold.

Mrs. Alan Steeney, her daughter, said Mrs. Mars "almost fainted" when the winner was announced, but the turf woman insisted it wasn't from surprise.

She said she had expected great things of Gallahadion ever since she bought him along with several other horses at the Saratoga yearling sales two years ago.

"I always have been very confident of Gallahadion," she declared. "I liked him when I bought him, I liked him as a two-year-old, and I liked him in the Derby."

WIRE FROM COLONEL

She liked him so well that she bet on him to win the Derby. Her daughter explained Mrs. Mars was not a heavy gambler on the races, but that the amount she risked on Gallahadion was a "heavy bet for her."

Gallahadion paid $72.40 on a $2 mutuel ticket.

In most of her previous Derby efforts Mrs. Mars was far from thrilled. Reaping Reward bounced in third one year, but on two other occasions, in 1938 and 1939, her entries finished a not-so-handsome last.

Mrs. Mars said she probably would go to Baltimore for Saturday's Preakness, "but I don't know yet whether I'll feel up to it or not—I'm pretty tired, you know, from all the excitement and telephone calls and wires."

She added she received "an awfully sweet wire" from Col. E. R. Bradley, owner of Bimelech, the prohibitive favorite.

Gallahadion's Trainer Foresaw Bim's Defeat

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6 (AP)—Trainer Roy Waldron, sniffling with a heavy cold, had it all figured out last Tuesday that some horse was going to beat Bimelech in the Kentucky Derby, and that it might just as well be his colt, Gallahadion.

But he didn't bet a plugged nickel on the son of Sir Gallahad III, which came driving home at the neat price of $72.40 for $2.

"I was gambling for the big pot," he said today. "That $60,150 purse and the necklace of roses was enough bet for me."

A well set-up, genial fellow of 44, Waldron has been ill for nearly a week with a cold so heavy he can barely talk.

"The horse was right fit, wasn't he?" Waldron asked some hours after the race, as he sat quietly in a corner of his apartment while several friends celebrated wildly around him.

He agreed with other trainers that Bimelech in last Tuesday's Derby trial mile — in which he whipped Gallahadion by 2½ lengths —showed he "could be beaten."

"Right then," he pointed out, "I knew my horse had as good a chance as any other in the race. So, when we saddled Gallahadion, I just told Carroll Bierman (the jockey) to lay back until the head of the stretch, and then let 'er rip, no matter who was in front of him. Boy, what a ride he made."

After 19 years of training, Waldron naturally selected Gallahadion as the best horse he's ever had.

"After all," he explained, "you don't come up with a Derby winner every day. So when you do, he gives you the biggest thrill of all."

Baldness Cured? Don't Be Misled By These Pictures

BEFORE

But these pictures show BEFORE and AFTER of a rare case—Alopecia Areata—the only type of baldness that Science says can be cured.

These photos show Mr. A. Holdsman before and after treatment by the method used by John E. Warner. This, however, is a very rare type of baldness known as Alopecia Areata. Science says that hair cannot be regrown on bald heads except rare cases such as the one pictured above. "It is true," says John E. Warner, New England's foremost hair and scalp specialist, "Alopecia Areata cases do respond to my treatment, but I do not accept other types of baldness for treatment because hair cannot be regrown." Statistics show that 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be corrected and checked if caught in time, and John E. Warner's treatment is offered to those wishing to save their hair and correct conditions leading to baldness. People with the symptoms of approaching baldness such as falling hair, dandruff and itching scalp can go to John E. Warner with the assurance that their cases will not be accepted for treatment unless beneficial results are reasonably certain. There is no charge for a private examination and consultation at the Warner offices—§15 Washington St., near the corner of West St. (opposite R. H. White's). Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily. Saturday 10 A. M. to 6 P. M. Phone Hub. 1765. Fees for treatment are moderate. Separate department for women. Adv.

Off Greece

With Greece looming as one of the centers of the threatening Mediterranean warfare, British destroyers are stationed in Naravino Bay (above) and naval reinforcements are reported arriving in the Aegean Sea.

Strength

A demonstration of Italian might is this... as a squadron of bombing planes fly overhead as troops march. This, however, is only a small part of Italy's strength, as today, according to Italian press reports, 8,000,000 troops and 340 warships are fully prepared to stand against Britain and France when the hour comes for war in the Mediterranean.
